By CHARLES A. SMITH
International News Service Staff Correspondent

LONDON, Oct. 17.—Apparently encouraged by the devastating effect of its recent night raids on London, Germany today launched a terrific daylight aerial attack on England.

Hundreds of German bombers and fighter 'planes were flung against southern England. They roared across the English Channel in big formations ranging from twenty-five to one hundred planes each.

All of them were headed toward London but they were hotly engaged by British Spitfires and Hurricane fighters before they had penetrated far inland.

Fierce Sky Battles

Fierce dog-fights raged in the skies as the British fighters fought desperately to prevent the German formations from reaching London. Battling planes, zooming, twisting and diving in a mad death struggle,

National Registration Day Most Successful

By JACK VINCENT
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Oct. 17.—With the first peacetime registration of the nation's manpower completed and proclaimed a great success, national draft officials today rushed into what they said was a "greater task"—the job of selecting the men Uncle Sam wants to defend the new world against threats of aggression.

The job, the most difficult faced by conscription headquarters, was being turned over to Dr. Clarence Dykstra, head of the University of Wisconsin and recently appointed director of the national draft board.

Takes Up Duties

Dykstra, calling for the nation to work together to make the 1940 draft a success, arrives in Washington today to be sworn into office and to confer with President Roosevelt.

The educator takes over the duties heretofore performed by Lt. Col. Lewis B. Hershey, who has been serving as acting director of the draft. Col. Hershey, in commenting on the registration of men of draft age yesterday, told International News Service:

"Anyone who watched these Americans at the places of registration yesterday must have sensed a great, surging pride, for America's manhood was parading through those places—America's youth upon whom

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 17.—District Attorney Thomas E. Dewey of New York and Mayor Fiorello H. Across town, on the northside, Mayor LaGuardia will champion President Roosevelt in a personal appearance there, aided by former Gov. State Employes Must Swear Fealty To Commonwealth

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Oct. 17.—More than 20,000 state employes learned today that they will be required to swear fealty to the commonwealth under penalty of losing their jobs.

Administration jobholders also will be required to sign affidavits that they are not and will not, as long as they are on the state payroll, solicit or hold membership in any organization aiming to overturn the government.

Gov. Arthur H. James declared he would demand the pledge of allegiance as the result of an opinion obtained from Attorney General Claude T. Reno. The chief executive, according to the ruling, can exact such oaths from employes under his direct jurisdiction.

State employes who refuse to sign the oaths will be promptly discharged, Governor James warned.

Ace Political Forecaster Of 1936 Election Predicts Willkie Is 1940 Winner

By JAMES L. KILGALLEN
International News Service Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, Oct. 17—Emil Hurja, ace political analyist who "called the turn" 100 per cent right in 1936, predicted in an interview today that Wendell L. Willkie will win from 25 to 28 states in November and be elected president by a sweeping majority.

"Willkie, on the basis of the present trend, will win by from 1,500,000 to 3,000,000 votes," said Hurja. "If the current trend continues at its present rate of acceleration, Willkie has an opportunity of winning by more than 4,000,000 votes."

Democratic Statistician

Hurja, who in the last two presidential campaigns was statistician for the Democratic National committee under the regime of James A. Farley, jumped into the headlines in 1936 as America's No. 1 political analyist with his uncanny forecast that President Roosevelt would carry 46 states and lose only Maine and Vermont.

Farley took Hurja's figures four years ago and won a pool on the election result participated in by a large group of New York and Washington newspaper correspondents.

Reached over long distance telephone today at Chicago, Hurja told International News Service that a sharp trend away from Roosevelt has set in in the big cities throughout the country. This trend started three weeks ago, he said, and "is quite marked now."

Situation Today

Hurja pointed out that many things can happen between now and Nov. 5. But he was basing his prediction of a Willkie victory on the situation as it exists today and also on a poll which his weekly, "The Pathfinder," took ten days ago.

(A year ago Hurja, who was once a Texas newspaper publisher, and Ben Smith, the famous Wall Street speculator, purchased "The Pathfinder," which sells more than 1,600,000 copies a week in rural communities.)

Hurja said he feels his 1940 poll is just as accurate as the one in

Commissioners Give Figures On Enrollment

DRAFT BOARDS NOT AS YET AT WORK

Total Registration List For City And County Will Probably Reach 12,000

Figures released by the county commissioners today show that 11,462 men between the ages of 21 and 36, registered for the selective draft in Lawrence County on Wednesday, October 16. This total is said to be not absolutely correct as a few minor changes were made this morning but the total will change but little.

Of the 11,462, the City of New Castle accounted for 5,629, and the district outside the city 5,633. In addition to these figures it is estimated that several hundred Lawrence County men registered in other cities Wednesday so that it seems likely that with these additions plus men who were sick and did not register there are close to 12,000 men in the age bracket between 21 and 36 in this county. Of the city total registered, 2,554 are in districts one and 3,075 in district two.

Do Excellent Job

The election boards and volunteers who assisted in the work of the registration did an excellent job according to the commissioners. They got the cards to the court house in quick time after they had finished and a cursory examination of the cards show that the work was done properly.

The cards will now be turned over to the draft boards. The four boards have not yet organized but are expected to within a day or so. They will then elect quarters, hire clerks and start their work of indexing and classifying the cards.

It is anticipated that the first call for draftees will come some time in December.

(BULLETIN)

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 17. — The National Draft board in Washington officially estimated today on the basis of partial returns that 17,000,000 men of conscription age had registered throughout the country yesterday, topping the expected total of 16,500,000 by approximately half a million.

Dr. Clarence A. Dykstra, new head of the conscription program, hailed the registration as proof that the United States as a democracy is not soft nor supine. Other officials at draft headquarters reported that the number of registrants yesterday totalled "nearly two percent more than the number anticipated."

Shenango township now has two fire trucks to protect the residents of that district, President Walter R. Waddington stated today, the truck which was recently purchased from the Natrona Heights fire department having arrived. It is being refurnished and put in good running condition, and will be housed at Castlewood for the protection of the residents of that district.

A building committee has been appointed to look into the matter of a building to house the truck at Castlewood, and it is expected that arrangements will be completed within the next few days.

The Shenango township firemen will meet at the fire station at East New Castle on Friday evening, when representatives of the First Aid and Life Saving Department of the American Red Cross will speak, relative to instructing a class of firemen in first aid and resuscitation methods.

The Ladies Auxiliary will also meet in the fire station the same evening.

State Employes Must Swear Fealty To Commonwealth

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Oct. 17.—More than 20,000 state employes learned today that they will be required to swear fealty to the commonwealth under penalty of losing their jobs.

Administration jobholders also will be required to sign affidavits that they are not and will not, as long as they are on the state payroll, solicit or hold membership in any organization aiming to overturn the government.

Gov. Arthur H. James declared he would demand the pledge of allegiance as the result of an opinion obtained from Attorney General Claude T. Reno. The chief executive, according to the ruling, can exact such oaths from employes under his direct jurisdiction.

State employes who refuse to sign the oaths will be promptly discharged, Governor James warned.

International News Service Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, Oct. 17—Emil Hurja, ace political analyist who "called the turn" 100 per cent right in 1936, predicted in an interview today that Wendell L. Willkie will win from 25 to 28 states in November and be elected president by a sweeping majority.

"Willkie, on the basis of the present trend, will win by from 1,500,000 to 3,000,000 votes," said Hurja. "If the current trend continues at its present rate of acceleration, Willkie has an opportunity of winning by more than 4,000,000 votes."

Democratic Statistician

Hurja, who in the last two presidential campaigns was statistician for the Democratic National committee under the regime of James A. Farley, jumped into the headlines in 1936 as America's No. 1 political analyist with his uncanny forecast that President Roosevelt would carry 46 states and lose only Maine and Vermont.

Farley took Hurja's figures four years ago and won a pool on the election result participated in by a large group of New York and Washington newspaper correspondents.

Reached over long distance telephone today at Chicago, Hurja told International News Service that a sharp trend away from Roosevelt has set in in the big cities throughout the country. This trend started three weeks ago, he said, and "is quite marked now."

Situation Today

Hurja pointed out that many things can happen between now and Nov. 5. But he was basing his prediction of a Willkie victory on the situation as it exists today and also on a poll which his weekly, "The Pathfinder," took ten days ago.

(A year ago Hurja, who was once a Texas newspaper publisher, and Ben Smith, the famous Wall Street speculator, purchased "The Pathfinder," which sells more than 1,000,000 copies a week in rural communities.)

Hurja said he feels his 1940 poll is just as accurate as the one in

Report Burma Road Traffic Is Resumed Ahead Of Schedule

(International News Service)

LASHIO, Burma, Oct. 17.—The first fleet of trucks to start northward over the Burma road when it is reopened will carry no military supplies but make what amounts to a test run, it was disclosed today.

(Editor's Note: An official announcement in London said the road would be reopened at midnight tonight. It was assumed this meant far eastern time, which would mean that traffic is scheduled to start moving about noon today, EST.)

(Editor's Note: Well informed sources in London said traffic over the Burma road, vital supply route into south China, is being resumed today rather than tomorrow.)

Large fleets of trucks were reported waiting at each end of the road

MANILA, P. I., Oct. 17.—Captain Rufo C. Romero, Filipino who graduated 17th in his 1931 class at West Point, was arrested today with two other men for questioning in connection with an espionage plot against United States military defenses in the Philippines.

Army officials issued an official statement tonight that Captain Romero had been arrested. He was taken into custody in his home after army authorities reported they found photographs of several confidential documents in a basement workroom in Romero's house.

The documents had been obtained from headquarters of the 14th engineers to which Captain Romero was assigned.

They predicted the road would be rendered useless in short order. The newspaper Asahi added that Japan will "sternly watch developments".

President Will Start Development Of St. Lawrence

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 17.—President Roosevelt today advised congress that he had undertaken immediate development of the international rapids section of the St. Lawrence river as a national defense measure because of the urgent need of both the United States and Canada for the power which can be developed at that point.

In a special message, the chief executive told congress that he had allocated $1,000,000 of his special defense fund to the Federal Power Commission and the Army Engineers Corps to begin preliminary investigations, surveys and borings.

Commissioners Give Figures On Enrollment

Total Registration List For City And County Will Probably Reach 12,000

Figures released by the county commissioners today show that 11,462 men between the ages of 21 and 36, registered for the selective draft in Lawrence County on Wednesday, October 16. This total is said to be not absolutely correct as a few minor changes were made this morning but the total will change but little.

Of the 11,462, the City of New Castle accounted for 5,629, and the district outside the city 5,833. In addition to these figures it is estimated that several hundred Lawrence County men registered in other cities Wednesday so that it seems likely that with these additions plus men who were sick and did not register there are close to 12,000 men in the age bracket between 21 and 36 in this county. Of the city total registered, 2,554 are in districts one and 3,075 in district two.

Do Excellent Job

The election boards and volunteers who assisted in the work of the registration did an excellent job according to the commissioners. They got the cards to the court house in quick time after they had finished and a cursory examination of the cards show that the work was done properly.

The cards will now be turned over to the draft boards. The four boards have not yet organized but are expected to within a day or so. They will then elect quarters, hire clerks and start their work of indexing and classifying the cards.

It is anticipated that the first call for draftees will come some time in December.

(BULLETIN)
(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 17. — The National Draft board in Washington officially estimated today on the basis of partial returns that 17,000,000 men of conscription age had registered throughout the country yesterday, topping the expected total of 16,500,000 by approximately half a million.

Dr. Clarence A. Dykstra, new head of the conscription program, hailed the registration as proof that the United States as a democracy is not soft nor supine. Other officials at draft headquarters reported that the number of registrants yesterday totalled "nearly two percent more than the number anticipated."

CLAIM BIG FIRES BURN IN LONDON

(International News Service)

BERLIN, Oct. 17—With clearing weather, German bombers today resumed their raids on England after being held to their bases early in the morning, according to an official Berlin announcement.

The statement said the first waves of German raiders bombed objectives in London at 9:50 A. M. (3:50 A. M. EST).

In addition, it was claimed, successful raids were carried out during the night on southern and middle England despite bad weather. Two British and two German planes were lost in yesterday's air battles, the announcement said."

"Large Fires In London"

Earlier it was stated that reconnaissance planes reported sighting large fires in London and elsewhere as a result of the night attacks.

Shortly after midnight a German announcement said that hundreds of German bombers participated in the night raid on London.

It added that an R.A.F. hangar near Cheltenham was destroyed by three direct bomb hits yesterday afternoon.

German authorities claimed that one R.A.F. bomber attempting to penetrate into Germany was shot down by anti-aircraft batteries along the Dutch coast.

NATIONAL DRAFT REGISTRATION DAY MOST SUCCESSFUL

the nation depends for preservation. It was a solemn occasion, with significance beyond the measure of words."

The registration was completed between the hours of 7 a. m. and 9 p. m., although some of the 125,000 registration booths scattered thruout the country had to stay open after the scheduled closing time because of the great rush of American men aged 21 to 36 to register.

No Trouble

There was virtually no trouble during the day, which marked the first peacetime registration of manpower in the nation's dynamic 164-year history. In New York, according to the department of justice, nine theological students who refused to register, because they were conscientious objectors, were given subpoenas to appear before a federal grand jury. Two Socialists at New York also were ordered to answer charges of refusing to register.

On the whole, the registration went off wtih unexpected smoothness.

However, veterans in conscription work, such as Hershey, recognized the fact that the biggest job was still before them. Hershey explained:

MORE JOBS IS HIS PROMISE, SAYS WILLKIE

tion that baldly asserts that the problem of unemployment in this country can never be solved?

"Obviously, no administration that doesn't believe it is possible to get jobs will ever be able to get them.

"The new deal says to you: "Why take a chance. Why take a chance at changing administrations at this time?'

"We say to you, "What have you got to lose?'

"Are you going to vote to continue in office an administration that frankly tells you that there is no hope for jobs?

"The new deal tells us that we have nothing to look forward to as a nation but endless unemployment, growing dependence upon the state. It tells our young people coming out of the schools that they cannot hope to earn a living, they cannot have a chance to marry, to raise a family, to get ahead. It tells the unemployed father that there is nothing for him but to walk the streets and to eke out a meagre living on government relief.

"That is what they are offering us. That is their program by their own admission.

Failed In Eight Years

The new deal has had eight years in office and has miserably failed to solve our economic problems. We have more than nine million unemployed today, as many as we had four years ago when the third term candidate was running for a second term.

"We know the record of the new deal and now we have its promise. Its promise is more unemployment. That is its frank and shameless promise. Our promise is more jobs.

"The young people of America must choose between a party that promises them a career on the relief rolls and a party that promises them jobs.

"People of America, faced with those alternatives, if you elect the party that promises jobs, what have you got to lose?"

Willkie reported that the Democratic national committee had issued a cartoon showing him carrying a big sign reading: "A job in every home."

He declared: "Now the reason the committee issued that cartoon was because they thought it was very silly. The idea of anybody talking about jobs for all Americans seems to them to be a very foolish thing. To me, it seems to be a very serious thing, a very real thing. It is the thing I stand for.

"If America has reached the point where that is a silly and laughable idea, then there is not much hope left for us.

"I believe that there can be in this country, a real job with a real future for the head of every family."

Willkie was scheduled to speak at McLeansboro, Mt. Vernon, Nashville, Bellesville, and East St. Louis, Ill., arriving in St. Louis, after driving from East St. Louis in the late afternoon.

TERRIFIC AERIAL DAYLIGHT RAID TRIED BY NAZIS

could be seen all the way from the Kent coast to the outskirts of London.

Only a few German planes managed to reach London and penetrate the capital's defenses. Those that did were hotly pursued by British fighters and did not manage to remain long over London. They caused three short air raid alarms in the capital up to 2 p. m., but there was no heavy bombing.

One German aerial armada of 100 massed bomber and fighters crossed the Kent coast early in the afternoon and headed for London.

This formation had hardly crossed the coast before a score of British fighters that had been patrolling high in the sky swooped down to attack. The German escorting fighter planes left the main formation to meet the British fighters and soon a series of terrific dog fights were underway.

Break Up Formatiin

A few minutes later, scores of additional British Spitfires and Hurricanes appeared seemingly from nowhere and roared right into the enemy formation, compelling it to break up into small harassed units.

Within a short time, one of the biggest massed aerial battles seen in recent weeks was raging high up in the sky.

Although out-numbered three-to-one, the British fighter planes managed to smash up the German formation and prevent a massed air raid on London.

Many other aerial battles, smaller but no less fierce, were raging between the coast and London as the R. A. F. tackled the German aerial invaders both coming and going.

Those German planes that did manage to escape the R. A. F. patrols on the inland flight were met by a hail of anti-aircraft fire on the outskirts of London. Many of them were forced to unload their bombs in the suburbs. As they turned back to head for their bases in France, they were met by waiting British fighters and engaged them.

Terrific Hammering

The R. A. F.s success in keeping the Germans away from London during the early part of the day enabled the capital's authorities to take stock of the situation wrought by the terrific hammering of the German air force during recent nights.

While London is not demolished and the morale of the population still remains high, it would be foolish to say that the intensification of the German raids has not resulted in the capital taking a vicious beating, or that these nights of terror and devastation have not had a certain effect on the public mind.

New scars, some of them in the nature of great, gaping wounds, have appeared nightly for weeks and today any short walk in almost any district brings one face to face with evidence of the ferocity of the German air force's attack.

Nevertheless, the people of London as a whole still seem to accept the damage and destruction with an attitude of resignation.

During the early morning raids on southern England, nine German dive bombers suddenly swooped on one southeastern town and dropped more than a score of bombs, demolishing a number of houses.

ACE FORECASTER PREDICTS WILLKIE WILL BE WINNER

1936 on which he based his statement that the Republicans would carry only two states.

Willkie To Win

"I say just as confidently now that Willkie will be swept into office," he declared. "I estimate he will win 25 to 28 states."

"How about New York state," he was asked.

"Safely for Willkie," replied Hurja.

"How about California?"

"Doubtful in my poll at this time."

The fact that Senator Hiram Johnson of California is planning to come out for Willkie in a speech tomorrow night would not induce Hurja to change his California estimate at this time. He said he deals only in present trends, not guesses.

"How about Illinois?" he was asked.

"Definitely Republican."

Pennsylvania Republican

Asked "How about Pennsylvania," Hurja replied: "Slightly less emphatic than New York."

"Why is New York so 'emphatic'?"

"Because of the more positive upstate vote for Willkie than four years ago," he answered.

Hurja went on to say that the recent Willkie gains in the big cities of the country are of great significance. He pointed out that in 1936 the cities went Democratic in states where the rural vote went Republican. This was true in cities such as New York, Philadelphia, Pittsburgh, Detroit and Chicago.

"The city strongholds for democracy are fading," Hurja remarked.

"How about the southern states—the solid Democratic south?" he was asked.

"There will be a heavy protest vote against Roosevelt in the south," he predicted.

Willkie "Prairie Fire" Spreads

In Hurja's opinion, while the south undoubtedly will go to Roosevelt, Willkie will have New England and the eastern seaboard, the middle west and the farm belt voting substantially in his favor, which would be more than sufficient to elect him. Meanwhile the Willkie "prairie fire" is catching on, he said, and spreading to other cities.

Hurja said his poll revealed that the two big issues in the minds of the American people are 1, the war trend, and 2, the third term.

"In the middle west," he added, "the matter of conscription is more important than the third term. In the east, the third term is the big issue."

There are a lot of subsidiary issues, Hurja asserted, but "permeating the whole situation is the desire of the people for a change."

He said that his poll revealed that of the people who have not yet made up their minds as to how they will vote 67 to 69 per cent of them are against the third term.

"The situation today," Hurja summed up, "is subject to fluctuations. Ten days from now I will make another statement on the election—and it will be definite."

HUNT FUGITIVE

City police have been asked to search for Edward Palmer, age 46 of Volant, R. D. 3, who escaped yesterday from Fairview hospital for the criminal insane. Palmer was sentenced to the institution following his arrest by City Policeman W. G. Smith in the rear of the Allen apartments, Rebecca Way, where it was declared he had started a fire last December.

for the moment it is reopened, after being closed for three months by the British government at the request of Japan.

But officials said that there will be no "mad rush" along the 700-mile highway when traffic is resumed.

Instead, it was stated, the first trucks will probably enter China without loads of military supplies and return at once with antimony destined for the United States as part payment of the recent American loan to China.

Scoffs At Bombing Reports

With everything in readiness for the reopening, drivers of the trucks assembled in Lashio shrugged off reports that Japanese planes will bomb the road the moment traffic resumes.

They declared they were ready to run the gauntlet in order to renew the flow of military supplies into China.

At the same time it was revealed that the Burma government had discovered two members of the Japanese Rangoon consulate who had come to Lashio to observe the reopening of the road.

The Japanese officials were warned to leave on grounds that the British government could not be responsible for their safety, owing to the presence of several thousand Chinese jubilant over the reopening of the road.

During the first week of traffic over the road, according to informed sources, more supplies probably will leave China for shipment to the United States than will enter China from the outside.

Reports from Chungking said Chinese authorities were ready for swift handling of the tons of supplies that will begin rolling across the highway.

(According to a British radio broadcast, trucks using the road will follow secret routes after crossing the Chinese frontier to escape possible Japanese raiders.)

In Chungking the British ambassador, Sir Archibald Clark Kerr, will hold a reception to mark the reopening of the route.

Common Sense About Constipation

A doctor would tell you that the best thing to do with constipation is get at its cause. That way you don't have to endure it first and try to "cure" it afterward—you can avoid having it.

Chances are you won't have to look far for the cause if you eat the super-refined foods most people do. Most likely you don't get enough "bulk"! And "bulk" doesn't mean a lot of food. It means a kind of food that isn't consumed in the body, but leaves a soft "bulky" mass in the intestines.

If this is what you lack, try crisp crunchy Kellogg's All-Bran for breakfast. It contains just the "bulk" you need.

Eat All-Bran often, drink plenty of water, and "Join the Regulars." Made by Kellogg's in Battle Creek. If your condition is chronic, it is wise to consult a physician.

District 2-B And 5 Of O. E. S. At Cathedral Well Attended

Scottish Rite Cathedral was the mecca Wednesday night for a throng of guests, including many out-of-towners, as well as local residents, who gathered to participate in the annual District 2-B and 5 meeting of the Order of the Eastern Star, the work being beautifully exemplified in the presence of upwards of 500 or more guests coming from nearby and distant cities. The occasion was planned especially to honor the worthy grand matron, Lorene A. Wolstenholme of Philadelphia, a most gracious person.

Festivities were launched with an elaborate banquet being served in the dining room of the Cathedral at 6:30 o'clock, at beautifully appointed tables. At the grand officers table, individual vases, holding bouquets of real flowers, were favors, while other favors in keeping with the October season indicated places for the remaining guests. Throughout the serving, pleasing dinner music was contributed by Miss Lenore Pyle, pianist, and Vance Dufford, violinist, who displayed their talents to fine advantage.

Immediately following, the presentation of gifts took place in the dining room, which was cleverly carried out with a unique "witchery setting"' While an old witch stirred her kettle in all seriousness and repeated words pertaining to the various grand officers and distinguished guests, her "two black cats" sauntered out in the audience and gave the gifts to the intended ones. This was cleverly carried out by Mrs. Mildred Doerr, Mrs. Leora Walters and Miss Virginia Bowman.

Adjourning to the east lodge room ceremonial work was put on by the presiding matrons of District 2-B and 5. The room was exquisitely decorated in the October theme, the rustic setting being most fitting to the evening's program. Ellwood City conducted an impressive flag drill, with Mrs. H. E. Helling as soloist, singing "God Bless America" with musical accompaniment, which marked the opening feature. Just preceding, a "get acquainted" recreation period in the reception lobby was enjoyed by the membership.

In addition to the worthy grand matron, Mrs. Wolstenholme, other grand officers present included the following: Mrs. Carrie Crisswell, past grand matron of Wenonah Chapter No. 124, chairman of transportation and mileage committee; Miss Irene Brehm, past matron of Naomi Chapter No. 55, transportation and mileage committee; Mrs. Lucy Round, past matron of New Castle Chapter No. 105, grand representative of Tennessee; Mrs. Beryl Hock, past matron of Chicora Chapter No. 345, grand representative of Kansas; Mrs. Elizabeth Grocott, past matron, Col. J. H. Thompson Memorial Chapter No. 469, and grand representative of Scotland; Attorney Orville J. Brown, Shenango Chapter No 333, past grand patron.

Throughout the evening a sextette sang several selections. In this group were Mrs. Helen Felch, Miss Ruth Weir, Mrs. Elizabeth Stritmater, Mrs. Flossie Weller, Mrs. Gula Hess and Mrs. Lillian Buckner. Mrs. Anna Pyle was the accompanist.

Afterwards the salute was given, and the song "Now the Day Is Over" was sung, bringing another district meeting to a close, that will go down as a well planned event and most successful in every way.

Homogenized Milk for your children

—say leading Child Specialists

Exhaustive tests made at a famous Pennsylvania children's hospital confirm this opinion of many leading child specialists: Homogenizing tends to make milk more readily digestible for children and infants.

The Homogenizing process breaks up the cream particles and distributes them evenly throughout the milk. The result is a smaller, softer, more readily digestible curd.

In addition, this even distribution of cream gives improved flavor that tempts youngsters to drink more milk.

In our improved Homogenized Vitamin D Milk we offer a homogenized milk, Sealtest Supervised for purity and quality—pasteurized for your protection—with 400 units of beneficial Vitamin D in every quart.

Common Sense About Constipation

A doctor would tell you that the best thing to do with constipation is get at its cause. That way you don't have to endure it first and try to "cure" it afterward—you can avoid having it.

Chances are you won't have to look far for the cause if you eat the super-refined foods most people do. Most likely you don't get enough "bulk"! And "bulk" doesn't mean a lot of food. It means a kind of food that isn't consumed in the body, but leaves a soft "bulky" mass in the intestines.

If this is what you lack, try crisp crunchy Kellogg's All-Bran for breakfast. It contains just the "bulk" you need.

Eat All-Bran often, drink plenty of water, and "Join the Regulars." Made by Kellogg's in Battle Creek. If your condition is chronic, it is wise to consult a physician.

Homogenized Milk for your children
—say leading Child Specialists

Exhaustive tests made at a famous Pennsylvania children's hospital confirm this opinion of many leading child specialists: Homogenizing tends to make milk more readily digestible for children and infants.

The Homogenizing process breaks up the cream particles and distributes them evenly throughout the milk. The result is a smaller, softer, more readily digestible curd.

In addition, this even distribution of cream gives improved flavor that tempts youngsters to drink more milk.

In our improved Homogenized Vitamin D Milk we offer a homogenized milk, Sealtest Supervised for purity and quality—pasteurized for your protection—with 400 units of beneficial Vitamin D in every quart.

THE THIRD TERM

IN MANY ways there is only one real mandate that the American people will give on November 5, and that is one for or against a third Presidential term.

If the mandate is for a third Presidential term the nation is in a very real sense cast loose from its traditional governmental moorings and put adrift on currents the direction of which no man can predict. In a world where force is being used to obliterate every ancient fundamental, there is no telling where America might wind up governmentally, socially and culturally if it discarded a main prop in its form of government by strengthening the executive branch and weakening the legislative and the judicial branches.

The danger is that a President will have such great power that he can not successfully be challenged in his quest for a fourth or even a fifth term. Thus America would no longer be a Republic. It would be a dictatorship, with the form of government anything the dictator cared to make it.

President Roosevelt has demonstrated ample craving for the investing of more power in the executive branch of the government, power which is now giving abundant help in the drive for a third term and which could make a fourth term drive well nigh irresistible.

NO TIME FOR PRIZES

There will probably be no Nobel prizes this year. Neither the arts nor the sciences thrive on war.

The Nobel prize for medicine is definitely off, the medical faculty of the University of Stockholm decided. There is slim hope that awards will be made in the fields of literature, chemistry or physics. And an award for peace would be pure travesty.

The efforts of scientists these days are devoted to implements of war. Writers are too preoccupied with propaganda to deal with literature in the strictest sense. Men of learning have been throttled by persecution and internment.

And the pity of it is that in such evil times the world forgets to pass out prizes in recognition of service to mankind.

UNPUNCTURABLE TIRES

The tires of Uncle Sam's mechanized cavalry are to be made road-proof and bullet-proof. Military trucks will no longer "throw a shoe." Blowouts and punctures, it is said, will be eliminated by the use of a new rubber inner tube which can take almost any blow or shot and keep right on going.

In proving-ground tests, bullets of 30 and 50 calibre have been fired into such tires without hurting them. One tire pierced by 50 machine gun bullets continued in service for 200 miles without additional inflation. The new tire is being installed not only on the lighter mechanized cavalry and scout cars but on gun carriages, caissons and heavy trucks.

This is reassuring. And now how about unpuncturable and unblowable tires for general use, on civilian cars and trucks? It would be wonderful if Dad never had to change a tire, and if city traffic was never held up by a flat.

NORRIS REPUDIATES HIMSELF

We never heard of any person questioning the honesty of Senator George Norris of Nebraska, but in view of recent events his good faith is open to doubt.

Senator Norris was one of the most outspoken opponents of a third term for a President in 1928 and in Senate addresses made convincing arguments against it. Since Senator Norris recently came out for President Roosevelt, opponents of a third term have been looking up the speeches the Nebraskan made in 1928. They are just as good as any that are being made now against the third term, and better than some. Here is an excerpt from one of Senator Norris' speeches in 1928:

"It is important, because, in my judgment, if a President of the United States were allowed to re-nominate himself, as he could, it would mean—not perhaps in my lifetime, or it may not be in the lifetime of anyone here—but it would mean ultimately the establishment in this country of a monarchy upon the ruins of our present republican form of government.

"A President wishing to be re-nominated, if he wants to use the power that is his, after he has been in office for some time, can compel his party . . . to renominate him . . . He is at the head of the machine that has the entire country within its grasp, and can, through the power that he possesses, using the officials who are under him and who range down to the lowest on the list, to round up delegates; he can control conventions as no other man on earth can control them . . . He nominates himself by using the instrumentality that the law gives him on account of his position. There is no competition; there is a trust, there is a monopoly of the nomination as far as his party is concerned."—Titusville Herald.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

COLLEGE STUDENT WRITES HOME

To the young man or woman entering or returning to college this fall, let me entreat you not to forget the home folk. They want to hear from you at least once a week. They want to know about your experiences at college.

Some college youths who waste their time and their parents' money at college, will devote much of the letter home to deceiving their parents, at which they may prove eminently successful for several months.

But the large majority of college sons and daughters do try to be on the square with the home folk. Some of this group write letters home that prove a great joy to their parents and a good means of education for themselves. Writing letters home can become the most valuable part of a student's education. And what can afford a better way to broaden the parent's education than to write intelligently to the son or daughter at college? Indeed, some parents read diligently in order to write meaty, interesting letters to their children away from home.

Yet the college student or parent may soon gravitate to the level of writing to each other very brief and prosaic letters.

Don't Lecture In Letters

Among the frailities of parents in writing the son or daughter at college is to forget that the youth has grown up and, therefore, to lecture and exhort him as if he were a ten year old. At the same time, the college youth is inclined not only to feel too old to profit at all from parental advice but also old enough to advise his parents.

An essential principal of good letter writing between parent and child at college, or away from home at work, is an atmosphere of adult to adult relationship—no lecturing, nothing childish, but as man to man. Let us parents try to emulate St. Paul and "put away childish things," when we write our grown-up son or daughters.

After all, the letters which pass between the son or daughter in their late teens or early twenties and their parents have grown out of the parent-child relationships over years and years. The contents of these letters and their tone have been accumulating since the child was born. Let mothers of infants in arms begin now to prepare for the best possible kind of letters to and from this children when he will be in his twenties.

There are a number of good books about college life at college and how to succeed at college. You may have a list of such by writing me at 235 East 45th street, N. Y. City, enclosing a self addressed envelope with a three cent stamp on it. Parents as well as students, might profit from reading these books which they should be able to find in the public library. Also available is a list of books on "How to Study Effectively" and a page of "Tips to Students."

Solving Parent Problems

Q. Do you think that parents should cultivate the art of being gracious hosts and hostesses to the young man or woman, who has a date with their daughter or son?

A. I certainly do. How very rude and barbarous some parents who otherwise are refined and cultivated can be in this role!

Just Folks

THRILLING SPEECH

Now when it comes to talking, some
the utmost heights can reach.
There are many clever mortals who possess the gift of speech.
I have listened to orations and I've heard toastmasters, too,
Who could hand out pretty phrases
in a way that thrilled me
through.
But there's nothing in the language,
quite so glorious, week by week,
As those words your grandchild utters when he first begins to speak.

Take "bampa" as a starter. Where's
the word to equal that?
All other forms of greeting now
seem commonplace and flat.
Take "up" or "down!" My goodness!
they've been merely words for years,
But today, to hear him say them,
each a radiant thing appears.
And I find there is a beauty I had never known before
In the way that little fellow bangs
his plate and tells us: "More!"

Of man's oratory splendid I am sure
I've had enough
For my choice today is different.
It's for simple one-word stuff.
There's more joy in hearing "bampa!" than the finest polished
phrase,
More of pleasure, more enchantment, more to chuckle o'er and praise.
So I set it down in verses, pen in hand, not tongue in cheek:
Speech becomes a thrill ecstatic
when the grandchild starts to speak.

Words Of Wisdom

SMILE

If I would smile a little more,
And I would kinder be
If you would stop to think before
You speak of faults you see;
If I would show more patience too,
With all with whom I'm hurled,
Then I would help—and so would you—
To make a better world.

HINTS AND DINTS

Sun sets tonight 5:18. Sun rises tomorrow 6:14.

Another good thing in favor of Mr. Willkie is that Ex-Governor Pinchot is against him.

When the wife pulls a booner it's a faux pas. When hubby does it's a boner.

No man is indispensible. The Hints and Dints man has been off this job for several days and he thought for a day or so he would never be back again. Charlie Allen kept this column going in a great way.

Sometime after Mr. Roosevelt has completed his "non-political" tours to accept honorary degrees and inspect defenses in doubtful states, we suggest he take time to attempt comment on one paragraph in Mr. Willkie's Seattle speech:

"The difference between me and my opponent for office is that I have faith in America. The New Deal candiate does not believe there are more jobs, whereas I know there are. He does not believe that we can put the unemployed back to work, whereas I know we can."

Ever since pap and mother rowed the other night the poor fellow's appearing in technicolor—black and blue.

A senator has only two things to fear, his wife and the chairman of his party.

It is predicted that there will be a lot of flu this winter. It's a good thing to prepare for it now and one of the important things is to keep the premises clean.

Overheard at the recruiting office: "Any addition to your family since this application was made out?

"Yes, sir, two."

"Twins?"

"No, sir—one baby and my mother-in-law."

There are a lot of nasty people in this world. You can get an idea of some kind of people when they insult a candidate for president of the United States. Would you go anything on their opinion.

Everything must be earned. Those you play bridge with when you're well are the ones who call on you when you're sick.

We heard a man say no man could put on a full dress suit while drunk. We know of some who cannot do that without help when they are sober.

An Ohio man was killed when he fell off a stepladder while helping his wife to clean the kitchen. There are birds who are so low as to think it served him right.

When the baby reaches the age that the opinions of his parents don't count it's time to start his education.

A TRICK WITH FIGURES

Stalin, of Russia, was born in 1879 Roosevelt, of the United States in 1882 Mussolini, of Italy in 1883 and Hitler of Germany in 1889 so Stalin is 61, Roosevelt 58, Mussolini 57 and Hitler 51 year old.

Stalin came to power in 1925, Roosevelt in 1933, Mussolini in 1922 and Hitler in 1933, so Stalin has been in power 16 years, Roosevelt 7, Mussolini 18 and Hitler 7.

Take the birth year of any one of these men, add to it the year he came to power, then the number of years he has been in power and finally the age of the man. The total in every case is 3,880, which divided by two, gives the mystic year 1940!

Significant? Well, maybe, but let's take Wendell L. Willkie. He was born February 18, 1892. Let's assume that he is elected president of the United States.

He will be 49 years old in 1941, the year when he would take office. So we will take his birth year, 1892; add to it the year he came to power, 1941, which make 3,833. He wouldn't be in power a full year until 1942 so we add a zero. Finally he is 49 years old. We add that, and the total is 3,882. Divided by two, it gives the year 1941. Perhaps he's a man of destiny, too!

All the world's inventive genius apparently isn't being devoted to implements of death and destruction. A Maine woman has invented a portable dressing room for bathers that can be converted for use as a dining table. What, no napkins.

A home is a little used building that usually stands on the same lot with the garage.

Often when a person tries to swat two flies with one swat he misses both of them.

A young man asked a father to marry his daughter. The father asked him if he had seen her mother. He said he had, but he would marry her anyhow.

A good thing to do with leaves in the fall, or at any other time, is to rake them up and have them hauled away instead of making the whole neighborhood sick and disgusted with rank smelly smoke.

Nearly three-fourths of the nation's top ranking business executives believe that national defense preparations are not as efficient as they should be and they blame the administration on the delay.

To learn which side a Frenchman is fighting on, first note what part of the world he is in.

We are almost self-sufficient, but our greatest need can't even be important. It is called time.

If we are worthy to fight for Christian civilinzation, we need but one battle-song: "In the Cross of Christ I Glory."

The British learn slowly. They let French ships pass Gilbraltar because they believed the promises of Frenchmen serving Hitler.

A nice thing in any church is to have the seats far enough apart so the people can cross their legs.

The Nazis could impress us more by signing new treaties if they hadn't shown such indifference to old ones.

The safest citizens are those who can support the better man for office and yet see the good points of the other.

Unread books quickly acquire a stale look.

There is always a bright side. Radio singers haven't yet given us a swing version of "Rock of Ages."

If insurance agents want to do something for mankind, why is it none of them have sold Hitler on the "retire at 55" idea?

In Canada a girl has been found who learned to ski after only 15 sittings.

A New Castle man exaggerates so much that some of his friends have said: "I hope that when I die you will preach my funeral sermon."

Now we are told that hips are going out of style. Wouldn't that give you the wiggles?

If Roosevelt is already in, there is no further reason to be partisan. So name something he has done that no ordinary man could have done as well.

American justice: Fourteen relatives swore Happy was in the house all night while his grandmother lay dying: undertaker and embalmer swore he was not. Nobody was indicted for perjury.

Italy, Germany and Japan really agree in one belief. They think their strength is multiplied by growling: "Gr-r-! We're tough!"

Conscripted boys need no sympathy. How many of them have been making $30 a month clear above board and clothes?

Good Taste

Reg. U. S. Patent Office

"One of my brothers heckles all of my friends during serious conversation," complains a girl's note, found among my morning mail "When I call him down he says none of us has a sense of humor."

A sense of humor is an invaluable asset to one gifted with the instinct to apply it just at the right time. But the parlor clown who puns or gigges at what is seriously spoken or is constantly reminded of anecdotes that interrupt interesting currents of discussion is a social liability. I use the word instinct because a true sense of humor is something inherited and never acquired. The lucky person born with it knows just when and when not to turn sparkle of his wit upon what he or others are saying. He is a magician who can lead conversation out of lines leading to contention and who can so spice his own opinions that they never savor of conceit or vainglory. But wit is perilous unless one is an adept in the fine art of applying it. Those not so gifted conjure up more scowls than smiles on the faces of their hearers.

Readers' Questions Answered

Question: My husband and I have just joined a country club. All our lives we have been too busy to have much social life. Will you please tell me what clothes I should wear going to the club for various activities.—F. O.

Answer: Wear sports clothes and flat-heeled shoes for outdoor activities, such as golf, tennis, hiking, etc. Nothing looks more ridiculous than fussy clothes and high-heeled shoes for walking about country club grounds.

Plain, tailored or sports clothes with "sensible" shoes are worn to luncheons (even those neither followed nor preceded by any sports events) in a country club.

A dinner dance held at the club would, of course, require dinner clothes.

Question: Please suggest some appropriate gifts for me to give my best man and ushers—not too expensive, please.—L. M.

Answer: Cuff links are frequently given for this purpose. Other suggestions are: Belt buckles, gold or silver key chains, cigarette cases, wallets, card-cases or any other personal articles. Your gift to your best man should be of slightly greater value than those given to the ushers. You must also give your attendants their butonnieres and ties to be worn at your wedding.

What's What At A Glance

Mussolini's Offer Is Impractical
Offers Share Of Gravy To Keep Out
Would Offset Japanese Grab In East

By CHARLES P. STEWART
(Central Press Columnist)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 17.—Not in so many words, but by plain implication, Uncle Sam has been threatened, by the Axis folk, with the dreadful things that'll happen to him if he stays as pro-British as he is now.

It's news, though, to have the Axis remark that he'll get his share of the gravy if John Bull is licked, as per the Axis' desired program.

This, however, is what Benito Mussolini's newspaper, the Popolo d'Italia, suggested the other day. Benito, it's to be borne in mind, is a newspaperman personally. Virginio Gayda everlastingly is referred to as his spokesman. No doubt he really is in close touch with the Duce. But the Popolo actually is Benito's own paper. What that daily says is direct from the fountainhead. It's as if Benito himself said it.

Well, the Popolo's prediction is that, assuming the squashing of J. Bull's own isle by the Axis, the U. S. A. automatically will get Canada, Australia, New Zealand and the British West Indies.

Benito doesn't make this exactly as an offer. It's more in the nature of a forecast of something inevitable.

As For Hitler

What Fuehrer Hitler thinks about it is a different proposition. Still, Benito and Adolf are so much in cahoots that it doesn't seem as if Benito would outline a scheme that Adolf wouldn't acquiesce in.

That's all very well, so far as Italy and Germany are concerned.

But what does Japan think about it?

Today the Japs are hooked up with the Axis. And it's an old story that the mikado persistently has had an eye on Australia—and on New Zealand, too, as a side-show. He probably wouldn't figure on getting his clamps upon Canada or the British West Indies.

Presumably Italy hasn't yet thought of gobbling the Anzac end of the British empire, and maybe Germany hasn't, either. Germany nevertheless, surely doesn't have the Dutch East (not necessarily the Dutch West) Indies in mind. And if Mr. Hitler manages to wallop the British and cop off Java and adjoining islands (the Dutch East Indian group) it's no good bet that he won't take a fancy to Australia and New Zealand also.

Italy doesn't so much matter. Benito's interest mainly is in Africa.

Australia To Japan?

Likewise I can imagine that Adolf might be willing to assign Australasia to the Japs (temporarily) for the sake of Nippon's help in the present situation.

Japan, however, to a certainty, never would agree to an Australian-New Zealand merger with the United States.

Benito's Popolo unquestionably is off his trolley on that idea.

Neither have I a very clear idea as to the fashion by which Canada, Australia and New Zealand might combine with the United States.

Oh, yes, we like 'em and they like us.

Yet how could we amalgamate? How would the Australians and New Zealanders like having us dictate to them? How would we like to have Canadians, Australians and New Zealanders in Congress, as representatives and senators? How would we like to have a Canadian, an Australian or a New Zealander running for president?

I'll say it would result in complications.

I do believe that Mr. Mussolini's Popolo's hint was well meant. It evidently was intended to point out to Uncle Samuel, "See what you're liable to get out of this mix-up!"

In its way, it positively was pacifistic.

It wasn't practical, though.

AS THE WHISTLE BLOWS

The gridiron season is upon us, that time of the year when sleek, brown pigskins go whirling through the blue autumnal sky, when mighty shock troops charge and crash against enemy lines on the greensward and dust of a thousand playing fields, when spectators by the hundreds of thousands gather in holiday mood to view spine-tingling battles between two and twenty warriors.

Football has become much more than a game. It is an American pageant as well. It is not only the charge of turf-slashing fullbacks pounding through the line, or passes zipping like bullets across the goal line into the arms of a receiver for a breath-taking touchdown play. Football season also means gayly uniformed bands playing, stands packed with the eye-filling colors of pompons and the emblazoned garb of rooters, flashing sleight of hand stunts creating giant pictures from cards in the hands of a thousand performers, mass drills serpenting over the gridiron, weaving by their formation, letters upon the green.

The elevens are deployed on the field ready for action. A player flattens himself on the ground to hold the leather oval. The kicker measures, with his eye, the distance to the waiting ball. The referee's whistle blows. The stands grow alert. It's kick-off time, and the pigskin parade is on the march across the land from Bangor to Calexico!

The Great Game Of Politics

By FRANK R. KENT

by The Baltimore Sun (Copyright, 1940)

Poll Cats, Etc.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 17.

IN an electorate so vast and so heterogeneous as ours, it is difficult to know exactly what really does influence the voters. The assertion has frequently been made that they are swayed more by prejudice and emotion than by reason.

STUDENTS of politics also insist that very often little things have far greater weight with the voters than big ones. There is abundant evidence to sustain both contentions. In this campaign, for example, there are issues of overwhelming importance. For one, there is the third-term effort, which aims at the basic tradition of American politics. For another, there is the issue of the New Deal record of the last seven years.

YET, notwithstanding the gravity of these questions, the practical politicians agree that more people have been interested in and, perhaps, affected by what relatively are trivial happenings. On one side, for example, it is said that more votes have been made for Mr. Willkie by the Elliott Roosevelt captaincy affair and the hoodlum throwing of vegetables at Mr. Willkie and Mrs. Willkie than by the arguments he has made against the Roosevelt Administration. Captain Roosevelt's futile and belated resignation gesture is the best proof of the political effect of this incident. It was forced by popular resentment at what was clearly a piece of rank favoritism.

THERE is also the view that Mr. Roosevelt's refusal to mention Mr. Willkie by name and his pretense that no one is running against him have reacted in Mr. Willkie's favor. Many people dislike what they consider the snobbishness of this pose and resent anyone—even a President—appearing to think he is too big to be argued with. The impression Mr. Roosevelt seeks to convey, of course, is that he is too deeply immersed in the great problems of the Presidency to pay any attention to Mr. Willkie, but there is reason to believe that a good many people have been through that pretense and been irritated by Mr. Roosevelt's "high-hatting" of his opponent.

ON the other side, two things, neither one of real importance, are held by the observers to have lost Mr. Willkie votes. One is the fact that his radio voice is inferior to that of Mr. Roosevelt and his language is not as highly polished. The other is the Gallup poll, which, because it shows Mr. Roosevelt in the lead, has swung to him the "high-side" voters. In a recent editorial, Mr. Raymond Moley coined a phrase to describe these voters. He called them "poll cats". No one can tell how many of these "poll cats" there are in this country, but they do exist. They wait to see what seems to be the winning side and then jump for it. The polls also have another effect. They discourage the workers of the side not favored in the polls and enable the other side to claim the fight is "in the bag". They are often misleading as to the actual situation because the significance of the figures are not fully explained.

FOR example, the most recent Gallup polls give Mr. Roosevelt a preponderance of the electoral vote; shows him ahead in nearly all the important States. Yet a well-known statesman with a fine mathematical mind made the assertion the other day that he could take Gallup's own figures and show the poll to be pro-Willkie. "The catch," he said, "is in the noncommittal vote. When that is analyzed the Roosevelt advantage practically disappears."

ASKED to explain, this man continued: "Dr. Gallup himself puts

THE THIRD TERM

IN MANY ways there is only one real mandate that the American people will give on November 5, and that is one for or against a third Presidential term.

If the mandate is for a third Presidential term the nation is in a very real sense cast loose from its traditional governmental moorings and put adrift on currents the direction of which no man can predict. In a world where force is being used to obliterate every ancient fundamental, there is no telling where America might wind up governmentally, socially and culturally if it discarded a main prop in its form of government by strengthening the executive branch and weakening the legislative and the judicial branches.

The danger is that a President will have such great power that he can not successfully be challenged in his quest for a fourth or even a fifth term. Thus America would no longer be a Republic. It would be a dictatorship, with the form of government anything the dictator cared to make it.

President Roosevelt has demonstrated ample craving for the investing of more power in the executive branch of the government, power which is now giving abundant help in the drive for a third term and which could make a fourth term drive well nigh irresistible.

NO TIME FOR PRIZES

There will probably be no Nobel prizes this year. Neither the arts nor the sciences thrive on war.

The Nobel prize for medicine is definitely off, the medical faculty of the University of Stockholm decided. There is slim hope that awards will be made in the fields of literature, chemistry or physics. And an award for peace would be pure travesty.

The efforts of scientists these days are devoted to implements of war. Writers are too preoccupied with propaganda to deal with literature in the strictest sense. Men of learning have been throttled by persecution and internment.

And the pity of it is that in such evil times the world forgets to pass out prizes in recognition of service to mankind.

UNPUNCTURABLE TIRES

The tires of Uncle Sam's mechanized cavalry are to be made road-proof and bullet-proof. Military trucks will no longer "throw a shoe." Blowouts and punctures, it is said, will be eliminated by the use of a new rubber inner tube which can take almost any blow or shot and keep right on going.

In proving-ground tests, bullets of 30 and 50 calibre have been fired into such tires without hurting them. One tire pierced by 50 machine gun bullets continued in service for 200 miles without additional inflation. The new tire is being installed not only on the lighter mechanized cavalry and scout cars but on gun carriages, caissons and heavy trucks.

This is reassuring. And now how about unpuncturable and unblowable tires for general use, on civilian cars and trucks? It would be wonderful if Dad never had to change a tire, and if city traffic was never held up by a flat.

NORRIS REPUDIATES HIMSELF

We never heard of any person questioning the honesty of Senator George Norris of Nebraska, but in view of recent events his good faith is open to doubt.

Senator Norris was one of the most outspoken opponents of a third term for a President in 1928 and in Senate addresses made convincing arguments against it. Since Senator Norris recently came out for President Roosevelt, opponents of a third term have been looking up the speeches the Nebraskan made in 1928. They are just as good as any that are being made now against the third term, and better than some. Here is an excerpt from one of Senator Norris' speeches in 1928:

> "It is important, because, in my judgment, if a President of the United States were allowed to re-nominate himself, as he could, it would mean—not perhaps in my lifetime, or it may not be in the lifetime of anyone here—but it would mean ultimately the establishment in this country of a monarchy upon the ruins of our present republican form of government.
> "A President wishing to be re-nominated, if he wants to use the power that is his, after he has been in office for some time, can compel his party . . . to renominate him . . . He is at the head of the machine that has the entire country within its grasp, and can, through the power that he possesses, using the officials who are under him and who range down to the lowest on the list, to round up delegates; he can control conventions as no other man on earth can control them . . . He nominates himself by using the instrumentality that the law gives him on account of his position. There is no competition; there is a trust, there is a monopoly of the nomination as far as his party is concerned."—Titusville Herald.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

COLLEGE STUDENT WRITES HOME

To the young man or woman entering or returning to college this fall, let me entreat you not to forget the home folk. They want to hear from you at least once a week. They want to know about your experiences at college.

Some college youths who waste their time and their parents' money at college, will devote much of the letter home to deceiving their parents, at which they may prove eminently successful for several months.

But the large majority of college sons and daughters do try to be on the square with the home folk. Some of this group write letters home that prove a great joy to their parents and a good means of education for themselves. Writing letters home can become the most valuable part of a student's education. And what can afford a better way to broaden the parent's education than to write intelligently to the son or daughter at college? Indeed, some parents read diligently in order to write meaty, interesting letters to their children away from home.

Yet the college student or parent may soon gravitate to the level of writing to each other very brief and prosaic letters.

Don't Lecture In Letters

Among the frailities of parents in writing the son or daughter at college is to forget that the youth has grown up and, therefore, to lecture and exhort him as if he were a ten year-old. At the same time, the college youth is inclined not only to feel too old to profit at all from parental advice but also old enough to advise his parents.

An essential principal of good letter writing between parent and child at college, or away from home at work, is an atmosphere of adult to adult relationship—no lecturing, nothing childish, but as man to man. Let us parents try to emulate St. Paul and "put away childish things," when we write our grown-up son or daughters.

After all, the letters which pass between the son or daughter in their late teens or early twenties and their parents have grown out of the parent-child relationships over years and years. The contents of these letters and their tone have been accumulating since the child was born. Let mothers of infants in arms begin now to prepare for the best possible kind of letters to and from this children when he will be in his twenties.

There are a number of good books about college life at college and how to succeed at college. You may have a list of such by writing me at 235 East 45th street, N. Y. City, enclosing a self addressed envelope with a three cent stamp on it. Parents as well as students, might profit from reading these books which they should be able to find in the public library. Also available is a list of books on "How to Study Effectively" and a page of "Tips to Students."

Solving Parent Problems

Q. Do you think that parents should cultivate the art of being gracious hosts and hostesses to the young man or woman, who has a date with their daughter or son?

A. I certainly do. How very rude and barbarous some parents who otherwise are refined and cultivated can be in this role!

THRILLING SPEECH

Now when it comes to talking, some
the utmost heights can reach,
There are many clever mortals who possess the gift of speech.
I have listened to orations and I've
heard toastmasters, too,
Who could hand out pretty phrases
in a way that thrilled me
through.
But there's nothing in the language,
quite so glorious, week by week,
As those words your grandchild utters when he first begins to speak.

Take "bampa" as a starter. Where's
the word to equal that?
All other forms of greeting now
seem commonplace and flat.
Take "up" or "down!" My goodness!
they've been merely words for
years,
But today, to hear him say them,
each a radiant thing appears.
And I find there is a beauty I had never known before
In the way that little fellow bangs
his plate and tells us: "More!"

Of man's oratory splendid I am sure
I've had enough
For my choice today is different.
It's for simple one-word stuff.
There's more joy in hearing "bampa!" than the finest polished
phrase,
More of pleasure, more enchantment, more to chuckle o'er and
praise.
So I set it down in verses, pen in hand, not tongue in cheek:
Speech becomes a thrill ecstatic
when the grandchild starts to speak.

Words Of Wisdom

SMILE

If I would smile a little more,
And I would kinder be
If you would stop to think before
You speak of faults you see;
If I would show more patience too,
With all with whom I'm hurled,
Then I would help—and so would
you—
To make a better world.

HINTS AND DINTS

Sun sets tonight 5:18. Sun rises tomorrow 6:14.

Another good thing in favor of Mr. Willkie is that Ex-Governor Pinchot is against him.

When the wife pulls a booner it's a faux pas. When hubby does it's a boner.

No man is indispensible. The Hints and Dints man has been off this job for several days and he thought for a day or so he would never be back again. Charlie Allen kept this column going in a great way.

Sometime after Mr. Roosevelt has completed his "non-political" tours to accept honorary degrees and inspect defenses in doubtful states, we suggest he take time to attempt comment on one paragraph in Mr. Willkie's Seattle speech:

"The difference between me and my opponent for office is that I have faith in America. The New Deal candiate does not believe there are more jobs, whereas I know there are. He does not believe that we can put the unemployed back to work, whereas I know we can."

Ever since pap and mother rowed the other night the poor fellow's appearing in technicolor—black and blue.

A senator has only two things to fear, his wife and the chairman of his party.

It is predicted that there will be a lot of flu this winter. It's a good thing to prepare for it now and one of the important things is to keep the premises clean.

Overheard at the recruiting office: "Any addition to your family since this application was made out?"

"Yes, sir, two."

"Twins?"

"No, sir—one baby and my mother-in-law."

There are a lot of nasty people in this world. You can get an idea of some kind of people when they insult a candidate for president of the United States. Would you go anything on their opinion.

Everything must be earned. Those you play bridge with when you're well are the ones who call on you when you're sick.

We heard a man say no man could put on a full dress suit while drunk. We know of some who cannot do that without help when they are sober.

An Ohio man was killed when he fell off a stepladder while helping his wife to clean the kitchen. There are birds who are so low as to think it served him right.

When the baby reaches the age that the opinions of his parents don't count it's time to start his education.

A TRICK WITH FIGURES

Stalin, of Russia, was born in 1879 Roosevelt, of the United States in 1882 Mussolini, of Italy in 1883 and Hitler of Germany in 1889 so Stalin is 61, Roosevelt 58, Mussolini 57 and Hitler 51 year old.

Stalin came to power in 1925, Roosevelt in 1933, Mussolini in 1922 and Hitler in 1933, so Stalin has been in power 16 years, Roosevelt 7, Mussolini 18 and Hitler 7.

Take the birth year of any one of these men, add to it the year he came to power, then the number of years he has been in power and finally the age of the man. The total in every case is 3,880, which divided by two, gives the mystic year 1940!

Significant? Well, maybe, but let's take Wendell L. Willkie. He was born February 18, 1892. Let's assume that he is elected president of the United States.

He will be 49 years old in 1941, the year when he would take office. So we will take his birth year, 1892; add to it the year he came to power, 1941, which make 3,833. He wouldn't be in power a full year until 1942 so we add a zero. Finally he is 49 years old. We add that, and the total is 3,882. Divided by two, it gives the year 1941. Perhaps he's a man of destiny, too!

Good Taste

"One of my brothers heckles all of my friends during serious conversation," complains a girl's note, found among my morning mail "When I call him down he says none of us has a sense of humor."

A sense of humor is an invaluable asset to one gifted with the instinct to apply it just at the right time. But the parlor clown who puns or gigges at what is seriously spoken or is constantly reminded of anecdotes that interrupt interesting currents of discussion is a social liability. I use the word instinct because a true sense of humor is something inherited and never acquired. The lucky person born with it knows just when and when not to turn sparkle of his wit upon what he or others are saying. He is a magician who can lead conversation out of lines leading to contention and who can so splice his own opinions that they never savor of conceit or vainglory. But wit is perilous unless one is an adept in the fine art of applying it. Those not so gifted conjure up more scowls than smiles on the faces of their hearers.

Readers' Questions Answered

Question: My husband and I have just joined a country club. All our lives we have been too busy to have much social life. Will you please tell me what clothes I should wear going to the club for various activities.—F. O.

Answer: Wear sports clothes and flat-heeled shoes for outdoor activities, such as golf, tennis, hiking, etc. Nothing looks more ridiculous than fussy clothes and high-heeled shoes for walking about country club grounds.

Plain, tailored or sports clothes with "sensible" shoes are worn to luncheons (even those neither followed nor preceded by any sports events) in a country club.

A dinner dance held at the club would, of course, require dinner clothes.

Question: Please suggest some appropriate gifts for me to give my best man and ushers—not too expensive, please.—L. M.

Answer: Cuff links are frequently given for this purpose. Other suggestions are: Belt buckles, gold or silver key chains, cigarette cases, wallets, card-cases or any other personal articles. Your gift to your best man should be of slightly greater value than those given to the ushers. You must also give your attendants their buttonnieres and ties to be worn at your wedding.

What's What At A Glance

Mussolini's Offer Is Impractical
Offers Share Of Gravy To Keep Out
Would Offset Japanese Grab In East

(Central Press Columnist)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 17.—Not in so many words, but by plain implication, Uncle Sam has been threatened, by the Axis folk, with the dreadful things that'll happen to him if he stays as pro-British as he is now.

It's news, though, to have the Axis remark that he'll get his share of the gravy if John Bull is licked, as per the Axis' desired program.

This, however, is what Benito Mussolini's newspaper, the Popolo d'Italia, suggested the other day. Benito, it's to be borne in mind, is a newspaperman personally. Virginio Gayda everlastingly is referred to as his spokesman. No doubt he really is in close touch with the Duce. But the Popolo actually is Benito's own paper. What that daily says is direct from the fountainhead. It's as if Benito himself said it.

Well, the Popolo's prediction is that, assuming the squashing of J. Bull's own isle by the Axis, the U. S. A. automatically will get Canada, Australia, New Zealand and the British West Indies.

Benito doesn't make this exactly as an offer. It's more in the nature of a forecast of something inevitable.

As For Hitler

What Fuehrer Hitler thinks about it is a different proposition. Still, Benito and Adolf are so much in cahoots that it doesn't seem as if Benito would outline a scheme that Adolf wouldn't acquiesce in.

That's all very well, so far as Italy and Germany are concerned.

But what does Japan think about it?

Today the Japs are hooked up with the Axis. And it's an old story that the mikado persistently has had an eye on Australia—and on New Zealand, too, as a side-show. He probably wouldn't figure on getting his clamps upon Canada or the British West Indies.

Presumably Italy hasn't yet thought of gobbling the Anzac end of the British empire, and maybe Germany hasn't, either. Germany, nevertheless, surely doesn't have the Dutch East (not necessarily the Dutch West) Indies in mind. And if Mr. Hitler manages to wallop the British and cop off Java and adjoining islands (the Dutch East Indian group) it's no good bet that he won't take a fancy to Australia and New Zealand also.

Italy doesn't so much matter. Benito's interest mainly is in Africa.

Australia To Japan?

Likewise I can imagine that Adolf might be willing to assign Australasia to the Japs (temporarily) for the sake of Nippon's help in the present situation.

Japan, however, to a certainty, never would agree to an Australian-New Zealand merger with the United States.

Benito's Popolo unquestionably is off his trolley on that idea.

Neither have I a very clear idea as to the fashion by which Canada, Australia and New Zealand might combine with the United States.

Oh, yes, we like 'em and they like us.

Yet how could we amalgamate? How would the Australians and New Zealanders like having us dictate to them? How would we like to have Canadians, Australians and New Zealanders in Congress, as representatives and senators? How would we like to have a Canadian, an Australian or a New Zealander running for president?

I'll say it would result in complications.

I do believe that Mr. Mussolini's Popolo's hint was well meant. It evidently was intended to point out to Uncle Samuel, "See what you're liable to get out of this mix-up!"

In its way, it positively was pacifistic.

It wasn't practical, though.

AS THE WHISTLE BLOWS

The gridiron season is upon us, that time of the year when sleek, brown pigskins go whirling through the blue autumnal sky, when mighty shock troops charge and crash against enemy lines on the greensward and dust of a thousand playing fields, when spectators by the hundreds of thousands gather in holiday mood to view spine-tingling battles between two and twenty warriors.

Football has become much more than a game. It is an American pageant as well. It is not only the charge of turf-slashing fullbacks pounding through the line, or passes zipping like bullets across the goal line into the arms of a receiver for a breath-taking touchdown play. Football season also means gayly uniformed bands playing, stands packed with the eye-filling colors of pompons and the emblazoned garb of rooters, flashing sleight of hand stunts creating giant pictures from cards in the hands of a thousand performers, mass drills serpenting over the gridiron, weaving by their formation, letters upon the green.

The elevens are deployed on the field ready for action. A player flattens himself on the ground to hold the leather oval. The kicker measures, with his eye, the distance to the waiting ball. The referee's whistle blows. The stands grow alert. It's kick-off time, and the pigskin parade is on the march across the land from Bangor to Calexico!

The Great Game Of Politics

By FRANK R. KENT

by The Baltimore Sun (Copyright, 1940)

Poll Cats, Etc.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 17.

IN an electorate so vast and so heterogeneous as ours, it is difficult to know exactly what really does influence the voters. The assertion has frequently been made that they are swayed more by prejudice and emotion than by reason.

STUDENTS of politics also insist that very often little things have far greater weight with the voters than big ones. There is abundant evidence to sustain both contentions. In this campaign, for example, there are issues of overwhelming importance. For one, there is the third-term effort, which aims at the basic tradition of American politics. For another, there is the issue of the New Deal record of the last seven years.

YET, notwithstanding the gravity of these questions, the practical politicians agree that more people have been interested in and, perhaps, affected by what relatively are trivial happenings. On one side, for example, it is said that more votes have been made for Mr. Willkie by the Elliott Roosevelt captaincy affair and the hoodlum throwing of vegetables at Mr. Willkie and Mrs. Willkie than by the arguments he has made against the Roosevelt Administration. Captain Roosevelt's futile and belated resignation gesture is the best proof of the political effect of this incident. It was forced by popular resentment at what was clearly a piece of rank favoritism.

THERE is also the view that Mr. Roosevelt's refusal to mention Mr. Willkie by name and his pretense that no one is running against him have reacted in Mr. Willkie's favor. Many people dislike what they consider the snobbishness of this pose and resent anyone—even a President—appearing to think he is too big to be argued with. The impression Mr. Roosevelt seeks to convey, of course, is that he is too deeply immersed in the great problems of the Presidency to pay any attention to Mr. Willkie, but there is reason to believe that a good many people have been through that pretense and been irritated by Mr. Roosevelt's "high-hatting" of his opponent.

ON the other side, two things, neither one of real importance, are held by the observers to have lost Mr. Willkie votes. One is the fact that his radio voice is inferior to that of Mr. Roosevelt and his language is not as highly polished. The other is the Gallup poll, which, because it shows Mr. Roosevelt in the lead, has swung to him the "high-side" voters. In a recent editorial, Mr. Raymond Moley coined a phrase to describe these voters. He called them "poll cats". No one can tell how many of these "poll cats" there are in this country, but they do exist. They wait to see what seems to be the winning side and then jump for it. The polls also have another effect. They discourage the workers of the side not favored in the polls and enable the other side to claim the fight is "in the bag". They are often misleading as to the actual situation because the significance of the figures are not fully explained.

FOR example, the most recent Gallup polls give Mr. Roosevelt a preponderance of the electoral vote; shows him ahead in nearly all the important States. Yet a well-known statesman with a fine mathematical mind made the assertion the other day that he could take Gallup's own figures and show the poll to be pro-Willkie. "The catch," he said, "is in the noncommittal vote. When that is analyzed the Roosevelt advantage practically disappears."

McNary Assails Wallace's Claims On Farm Program

(International News Service)

HUTCHINSON,, Kan., Oct. 17—Faced by a world war which "threaten to engulf us" the United States "will not dodge, shirk or evade whatever fate has in store," Republican vice-presidential nominee Charles L. McNary declared Wednesday, but he added that foreign markets have already been lost, may not be recovered, and that "we should expect and prepare for the worst."

"We meet in an hour of crisis" he asserted in a campaign speech. "A world war in whose remote causes we had no part, threaten to engulf us. Already it has affected our agricultural well-being; shutting Europe's markets to our grain, meat and fibre. No man can foresee the future."

Answering the assertion of the Democratic vice-presidential nominee Henry Wallace, that the United States has built up the best farm program in history, McNary charged the new deal has reduced agriculture in the face of the world-wide peril," and has "tried to buy its way out of trouble."

He accused the Roosevelt administration of training the 6,500,000 farm families as "guinea pigs for regimented state," and added that the farmers and all the people are "entitled to a better deal than the new deal."

The senate minority leader charged further that the Department of Agriculture "brain trust" is "dallying" with production controls verging on "state socialism" and that to gain consent of the farmer "they appease you with money—part of it yours, part of which you must some day pay back."

Government Of Britain Will Not Desert London

Will Remain Despite Attempts Of German Air Force To Wipe Out City

(International News Service)

LONDON, Oct. 17.—The British government is determined to remain in London despite the ferocious attempts of the German air force to wipe out the capital, it was authoritatively stated today.

In the strongest possible terms, official quarters reiterated that the government has no intention of abandoning London.

On the other hand, it was said the official policy remains unchanged that all people who are able to leave without interfering with their business life should do so.

At the same time, there is no question of compulsory evacuation of those who are able to leave.

This clarification of the government's position in regard to the civilian population of London followed announcement by Minister of Health Malcolm MacDonald in the House of Commons that nearly half a million children have been evacuated from the capital since the outbreak of the war.

this silent vote of people who will not say for whom they are at nine per cent of the total. Well, if you eliminate the eleven States of the solid Democratic South, where the percentage is negligible, this nine per cent noncommittal vote rises to above fourteen per cent in the big debatable States of the North. Now, then, the logic of this situation is that in this campaign the silent vote is largely pro-Willkie and anti-Roosevelt, for the simple reason that this time the coercive forces are all on the Roosevelt side.

"IT not only is the weight of the Federal Government and the almost unlimited money which it is distributing, but the desire for contracts, the desire to get on the WPA or some other Government pay roll, the desire to avoid incurring Government hostility—all these things have a coercive tendency. The days when the employers coerced the employes have gone; today the coercion comes from the union labor leaders, and employers hardly dare mention politics to an employe for fear of reprisals from the NLRB or some other Government agency. In brief, there are a good many reasons why voters for Willkie might refuse to commit themselves; practically none why the Roosevelt voter should be inarticulate and noncommittal. All of which add up to this: That it is reasonable to feel that three fourths of Dr. Gallup's noncommittal vote of fourteen per cent is anti-Roosevelt and pro-Willkie. If you give Willkie seventy-five per cent of this vote, practically all the States, outside the South, now in the Roosevelt column would be shifted to Willkie."

THAT is the argument. It may not be wholly holeproof, but at least it is sufficiently logical to cause the "poll cats" who stampeded because the surface figures showed Roosevelt as the winner to wonder whether they have not made a wrong guess. It would not take much to stampede them back. It is not pleasant to think that in this country elections may hinge upon such small things as these. But one cannot be realistic and ignore their effect.

Francois Tourte (1747-1835), is often referred to as the "Stradivari of the bow" He is generally acknowledged to have been the greatest violin bowmaker the world has ever known.

Broadcasting Of Football Games Causes Debate

School Board Discusses Question At Length At Meeting Wednesday Night

By action of the New Castle School board the home football games for the rest of this season will be broadcast by Station WKST. The action does not extend to next season, but is for the purpose of checking what the effect will be on the gate receipts.

The action came Wednesday night at the meeting of the school board after an hour and a half of the most acrimonious debate seen in many years. Upon the vote the board was divided 5 and 4.

The matter came before the board when it was asked why an informal board meeting was called three weeks ago and permission given to broadcast the games.

Said President Daniel B. Woolcock "I believe it was highly improper upon the part of the board members to take such action. Had I been asked to call a meeting for such purpose I would have refused."

Director Clyde M. Whittaker replied that all members of the board were invited, to which A. C. Hyde replied that he wasn't.

Said Hyde: "I have no quarrel with any one upon this board in this matter nor do I have any quarrel with the broadcasting company However I am convinced that it is a mistake for us to give this privilege away free for the broadcasting company to make money. It will reduce our attendance, it has as a matter of fact and I think we are foolish to do it. Sharon and Grove City have found it costs them money and I cannot see why we should lose money after their experience."

Dr. W. L. Cleland was of the same opinion and for about an hour the air was warm with charges and denials.

Finally, about eleven thirty, Dr. W. F. Jackson moved that the station be authorized to continue broadcasting for the balance of the year. The motion was carried 5 to 4. The vote follows: Yes, Jackson, Foster, Preston, Shira and Whittaker. No, Hyde, Cleland, Thomas and Woolcock.

Willkie Again Visits Indiana

Gets Two Kinds Of Greetings At Evansville, Indiana, This Morning

(International News Service)

EVANSVILLE, Ind., Oct. 17.—Wendell Willkie's home state gave him two kinds of greeting today as he paid a return visit—eggs and ringing plowshares.

Two eggs were thrown as the Republican presidential candidate rode to Bosse park to speak, but both of them missed by a wide margin.

In front of the Blount Agricultural Implement company some 20 workmen with plowshares suspended on hooks beat out a clanging rhythm with hammers in a unique gesture of welcome.

To an audience of 12,000 persons in Bosse park Willkie spoke of his emotions on returning again to his native state. Another several thousand, including two egg-throwers, lined the parade route

The county in which Willkie spoke gave President Roosevelt a 27,000 majority in 1936.

(International News Service)

LONDON, Oct. 17.—The British government is determined to remain in London despite the ferocious attempts of the German air force to wipe out the capital, it was authoritatively stated today.

In the strongest possible terms, official quarters reiterated that the government has no intention of abandoning London.

On the other hand, it was said the official policy remains unchanged that all people who are able to leave without interfering with their business life should do so.

At the same time, there is no question of compulsory evacuation of those who are able to leave.

This clarification of the government's position in regard to the civilian population of London followed announcement by Minister of Health Malcolm MacDonald in the House of Commons that nearly half a million children have been evacuated from the capital since the outbreak of the war.

this silent vote of people who will not say for whom they are at nine per cent of the total. Well, if you eliminate the eleven States of the solid Democratic South, where the percentage is negligible, this nine per cent noncommittal vote rises to above fourteen per cent in the big debatable States of the North. Now, then, the logic of this situation is that in this campaign the silent vote is largely pro-Willkie and anti-Roosevelt, for the simple reason that this time the coercive forces are all on the Roosevelt side.

"IT not only is the weight of the Federal Government and the almost unlimited money which it is distributing, but the desire for contracts, the desire to get on the WPA or some other Government pay roll, the desire to avoid incurring Government hostility—all these things have a coercive tendency. The days when the employers coerced the employes have gone; today the coercion comes from the union labor leaders, and employers hardly dare mention politics to an employe for fear of reprisals from the NLRB or some other Government agency. In brief, there are a good many reasons why voters for Willkie might refuse to commit themselves; practically none why the Roosevelt voter should be inarticulate and noncommittal. All of which add up to this: That it is reasonable to feel that three fourths of Dr. Gallup's noncommittal vote of fourteen per cent is anti-Roosevelt and pro-Willkie. If you give Willkie seventy-five per cent of this vote, practically all the States, outside the South, now in the Roosevelt column would be shifted to Willkie."

THAT is the argument. It may not be wholly holeproof, but at least it is sufficiently logical to cause the "poll cats" who stampeded because the surface figures showed Roosevelt as the winner to wonder whether they have not made a wrong guess. It would not take much to stampede them back. It is not pleasant to think that in this country elections may hinge upon such small things as these. But one cannot be realistic and ignore their effect.

Francois Tourte (1747-1835), is often referred to as the "Stradivari of the bow" He is generally acknowledged to have been the greatest violin bowmaker the world has ever known.

Home Coming At Slippery Rock On Saturday

Plans Made For Program—Indiana Teachers To Be Grid Opponent

(Special To The News)

SLIPPERY ROCK, Oct. 17.—Lights, music, queens, football, dining and dancing—it will be a full day at Slippery Rock State Teachers college on Saturday, Oct. 19, when the annual "Home Coming" event is staged. Three bands will play at the grid battle between the Rockets and the Indiana Teachers. The famous Kiltie band from the Zem Zem Temple in Erie will be here as well as the Indiana and Slippery Rock college bands.

Caroline Williams of Pittsburgh has been named home coming queen and her attractive aides will be Betty Bover of Slippery Rock, Betty Jane Blaha of Pittsburgh, Charlotte Brown of Baden and Frances Wilson of Johnstown.

Coach Thompson's Rockets, smarting under their first setback in 12 games, will be primed for Indiana. They lost in the last two minutes of play to Detroit Tech 12-7 on Saturday, after leading throughout.

The alumni dinner in North Hall is scheduled for 6:30 and a smoker for former athletes of the college will be held in the Men's Hut early in the evening by the Varsity club. Dancing in both gymnasiums will climax the event.

Broadcasting Of Football Games Causes Debate

School Board Discusses Question At Length At Meeting Wednesday Night

By action of the New Castle School board the home football games for the rest of this season will be broadcast by Station WKST. The action does not extend to next season, but is for the purpose of checking what the effect will be on the gate receipts.

The action came Wednesday night at the meeting of the school board after an hour and a half of the most acrimonious debate seen in many years. Upon the vote the board was divided 5 and 4.

The matter came before the board when it was asked why an informal board meeting was called three weeks ago and permission given to broadcast the games.

Said President Daniel B. Woolcock "I believe it was highly improper upon the part of the board members to take such action. Had I been asked to call a meeting for such purpose I would have refused."

Director Clyde M. Whittaker replied that all members of the board were invited, to which A. C. Hyde replied that he wasn't.

Said Hyde: "I have no quarrel with any one upon this board in this matter nor do I have any quarrel with the broadcasting company However I am convinced that it is a mistake for us to give this privilege away free for the broadcasting company to make money. It will reduce our attendance, it has as a matter of fact and I think we are foolish to do it. Sharon and Grove City have found it costs them money and I cannot see why we should lose money after their experience."

Dr. W. L. Cleland was of the same opinion and for about an hour the air was warm with charges and denials.

Finally, about eleven thirty, Dr. W. F. Jackson moved that the station be authorized to continue broadcasting for the balance of the year. The motion was carried 5 to 4. The vote follows: Yes, Jackson, Foster, Preston, Shira and Whittaker. No, Hyde, Cleland, Thomas and Woolcock.

Willkie Again Visits Indiana

Gets Two Kinds Of Greetings At Evansville, Indiana, This Morning

(International News Service)

EVANSVILLE, Ind., Oct. 17.—Wendell Willkie's home state gave him two kinds of greeting today as he paid a return visit—eggs and ringing plowshares.

Two eggs were thrown as the Republican presidential candidate rode to Bosse park to speak, but both of them missed by a wide margin.

In front of the Blount Agricultural implement company some 20 workmen with plowshares suspended on hooks beat out a clanging rhythm with hammers in a unique gesture of welcome.

To an audience of 12,000 persons in Bosse park Willkie spoke of his emotions on returning again to his native state. Another several thousand, including two egg-throwers, lined the parade route

The county in which Willkie spoke gave President Roosevelt a 27,000 majority in 1936.

Tea Will Be Held For Women Workers In Chest Campaign

Six Teams Will Check Solicitation Progress; Now $21,133 In

A tea for members of the six teams which make up the women's division of the current Community Chest campaign organization will be held on Friday afternoon at 4 in the parlors of the Y. W. C. A., Mrs. William J. Caldwell, division leader, announced today.

Mrs. Caldwell has planned it primarily to give her teams opportunity to "check over their cards and hear division reports."

To Report Next Week

Yesterday the Chest army had $21,133 of its goal of $60,500 subscribed. The second report session will be Tuesday, October 22.

Campaign Chairman Paul G. Dingledy expressed himself "well pleased" over the campaign's progress this morning.

"It looks good to me," he said. "I'd say the bulk of Advanced Gifts pledges has not been reported, and of course that will boost next week's report. All the divisions are showing up well."

Clubs Hear Dingledy

All this week Chairman Dingledy is appearing before civic groups, showing the new Community Chest film and speaking in behalf of the nine member agencies. Rotarians, Lions and many others have seen it, and last night The Townsmen, young men's club, heard the Chest story at the Y. M. C. A. and pledged $15.

Heading up the women's campaign teams which are covering the homes and neighborhood stores in the residential districts are Mrs. Agnes Howley, Mrs. Glenn Berry, Mrs. G. D. Hildebrand, Miss Iretta Dart, Mrs. Herbert S. Kirk and Mrs. John Reynolds.

Tomorrow their workers will join them for the tea.

Weber had been cutting down one tree when it toppled over and struck another, tearing loose a limb which struck him on the head. He was pronounced dead at the office of a Mars physician.

BUILDING PERMIT

J. C. Gilfillan today was given a city permit to build a $6,000 frame dwelling and garage at 119 Clenmore avenue, and a similar permit was granted W. M. Tribley to build a one-story concrete block at a cost of $740.00 at 839 Vogan street, as a furnace room and garage.

GERMAN CRUISER REPORTED SUNK

(International News Service)

BERLIN, Oct. 17.—Sinking of a small auxiliary German cruiser by a British destroyer off the Norwegian coast was announced today. Part of the crew was rescued by German ships.

(London yesterday announced sinking of a German convoy of three supply ships and two escort vessels, but did not give the locale of the battle.)

Beware Coughs Following Flu

After the flu is over and gone, the cough that follows may develop into chronic bronchitis if neglected. Creomulsion relieves promptly because it goes right to the seat of the trouble to help loosen and expel germ laden phlegm, and aid nature to soothe and heal raw, tender, inflamed bronchial mucous membranes. No matter how many medicines you have tried, tell your druggist to sell you a bottle of Creomulsion with the understanding you must like the way it quickly allays the cough or you are to have your money back.

Soviet Thrust

Russian troops are reported to have penetrated German-dominated Rumania, crossed the border at Chilia and advanced as far south as Sulina (arrow). Increasing Red-Nazi friction is seen in the Soviet's announcement it had not received satisfactory advance information of Germany's troop movements into Rumania. Russia reportedly has promised Turkey "moral support" in resisting Axis pressure. (Central Press)

Home Coming At Slippery Rock On Saturday

Plans Made For Program—Indiana Teachers To Be Grid Opponent

(Special To The News)

SLIPPERY ROCK, Oct. 17.—Lights, music, queens, football, dining and dancing—it will be a full day at Slippery Rock State Teachers college on Saturday, Oct. 19, when the annual "Home Coming" event is staged. Three bands will play at the grid battle between the Rockets and the Indiana Teachers. The famous Kiltie band from the Zem Zem Temple in Erie will be here as well as the Indiana and Slippery Rock college bands.

Caroline Williams of Pittsburgh has been named home coming queen and her attractive aides will be Betty Boyer of Slippery Rock, Betty Jane Blaha of Pittsburgh, Charlotte Brown of Baden and Frances Wilson of Johnstown.

Coach Thompson's Rockets, smarting under their first setback in 12 games, will be primed for Indiana. They lost in the last two minutes of play to Detroit Tech 12-7 on Saturday, after leading throughout.

The alumni dinner in North Hall is scheduled for 6:30 and a smoker for former athletes of the college will be held in the Men's Hut early in the evening by the Varsity club. Dancing in both gymnasiums will climax the event.

Grand Social At Church Of Truth On Friday Night

Friday evening, at 8 o'clock, the Spiritualist Church Of Truth will entertain at a grand social event, which is to take place in McGoun Hall, with Rev. Agnes E. Guthrie, pastor, in charge.

Guests from surrounding vicinities will be present, and many out of town workers will share as well as local workers, in giving messages and healing demonstrations. Included in the group will be Mrs. Lillian McCandless and Miss Evelyn Ford of Pittsburgh.

A special musical program will be featured during the evening, and lunch will be served at the close.

Exonerate Hute In Birt Death

FIND DRIVER WAS USING PRECAUTION

After hearing the testimony of eye witnesses to the accident which occurred at the intersection of West Washington and Smithfield street Saturday evening, when James Birt, of Smithfield street, was struck by an auto driven by Joseph Hute, of West Washington street, receiving fatal injuries from which he died several hours later in the Jameson Memorial hospital, a coroner's jury, summoned by Coroner T. F. Nugent, exonerated Hute of blame for the accident.

Hute testified that he failed to see Mr. Birt, who was 72 years of age, and who because of physical infirmities was unable to walk very fast. Mr. Birt, he stated, was attired in dark clothing, and was carrying packages in his arms. The first intimation he had of anyone being in the street, was when his lights fell on the packages. He said he swerved his car to the left to avoid striking Mr. Birt, the right front fender striking him and knocking him down. He said he applied his brakes immediately and was able to stop within a car length after Mr. Birt had been struck..

Mrs. Jessie Ferrell of Smithfield street, who was only 25 or 30 feet away from the accident, told a story similar to Hute's. She said she heard the screaching of the brakes, but did not see Mr. Birt struck because of the dark clothing he was wearing. She said she heard the impact of the collision, then saw his packages fly into the air, after which she noticed his body rolling along the ground. She helped put Mr. Birt into Hute's car and went along to the hospital. She stated that the street at that point is dark, and it is difficult for motorists to see.

George Williams, of Etna street, a youth who was standing across the street from where the accident occurred told a similar story.

Mrs. Lynn Kennedy, of West Washington street, told of seeing Mr. Birt going out of the West Side Dairy and stated that the packages he was carrying seemed to be so large as to obstruct his vision.

The jury was composed of Joseph Richards, Charles E. Patterson, Thomas A. McKay, Peter Rupp, William Richards and Charles E. Allen.

Routine Matters Before School Board Session

Little but routine business was handled Wednesday night when the New Castle school board held its regular monthly meeting. Aside from an argument over the broadcasting of football games the meeting took less than two hours time.

A contract was awarded to T. R. Roberts for a sewer cleaner at a price of $198.73.

The Saxon Juniors were granted the use of the Senior high gymnasium for seven Saturday nights during the winter, as they have been for many years.

The school board solicitor, Attorney Charles H. Young, was instructed to proceed against South New Castle Boro for $1152 tuition due the local board.

John B. Becktol, secretary of the board was ordered to procure eight tax duplicate books for 1941, at a cost of about $105.

Six more targets were authorized for the Senior high school shooting gallery. The idea has taken the fancy of the students and more targets are necessary.

St. Andrews church was granted the use of the Benjamin Franklin Junior high school on October 28 for the presentation of a group of professional entertainers.

A scientist, with the aid of an electrical heat-measuring device is enabled to gauge temperature in a room. With it he was able to show why dirt collects chiefly where windows, walls, beams, and woodwork are colder than other surfaces in the area.

Former Democratic State Chairman Is Against Third Term

John H. Collins Announces He Is Joining "Willkie-For-President" Forces

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Oct. 17—Former Democratic State Chairman John H. Collins today cast his lot with the Willkie-for-President forces.

Collins, a resident of Coudersport, obtained a 30-day leave of absence as a bureau chief of the Department of Internal Affairs to direct the Democrats-for-Willkie drive in 17 central Pennsylvania counties.

Chairman of the Democratic State Committee from 1928 to 1932, Collins bolted because of his opposition to the third term and the New Deal. "If the president were to be given the third term," he said, "it would be all the easier for him to get four or five terms and thus keep himself in office."

District Meeting In Ellwood Church

New Castle-Ellwood City Districts Of Shenango Presbyterial Have Meeting

Annual meeting of the New Castle and Ellwood City districts of Shenango Presbyterial was held Wednesday in the Bell Memorial Presbyterian church of Ellwood City.

At the morning session, beginning at 10 o'clock, Mrs. H. E. Alexander presided. After devotionals, led by Mrs. Oscar Rhodes, greetings from the Bell Memorial church were given by Mrs. Stella Jackson. Routine reports of the various secretaries and the treasurer, Mrs. Frank Woods, followed, after which Mrs. J. Wylie Brewster, president of Shenango Presbyterial, spoke briefly.

The introduction of the day's guest speakers took place at this time, Mrs. Alexander presenting Mrs. George Randall, from the Board of National Missions, and Miss Eva Miller, a missionary to the Cameroun, West Africa.

Luncheon was served at noon by women of the Bell church to those attending, over 100 being present.

Mrs. John M. Houk presided at the afternoon session, which got underway at 1:30 o'clock, with Mrs. Joseph E. Pringle leading devotionals. During the afternoon's program, vocal solos were presented by Mrs. Clayton Houk and Mrs. Pringle.

Both speakers proved to be most interesting. Miss Miller told of her work in the Cameroun, West Africa, and displayed a number of charms, clothing, and other articles from that district. She, also, introduced Rev. William Johnston, a retired missionary from the Cameroun, who made a few remarks on the work there.

Mrs. Randall spoke of a trip she took this summer to Alaska, telling of missionary work there and of her work in Puerto Rico and among the Negroes.

The benediction was pronounced following the singing of a hymn.

The annual meeting for all four districts of Shenango Presbyterial will be held next April in the Leesburg Presbyterian church. Today, the Sharon and New Wilmington districts are meeting in Rich Hill church.

Tea Will Be Held For Women Workers In Chest Campaign

Six Teams Will Check Solicitation Progress; Now $21,133 In

A tea for members of the six teams which make up the women's division of the current Community Chest campaign organization will be held on Friday afternoon at 4 in the parlors of the Y. W. C. A., Mrs. William J. Caldwell, division leader, announced today.

Mrs. Caldwell has planned it primarily to give her teams opportunity to "check over their cards and hear division reports."

To Report Next Week

Yesterday the Chest army had $21,133 of its goal of $60,500 subscribed. The second report session will be Tuesday, October 22.

Campaign Chairman Paul G. Dingledy expressed himself "well pleased" over the campaign's progress this morning.

"It looks good to me," he said. "I'd say the bulk of Advanced Gifts pledges has not been reported, and of course that will boost next week's report. All the divisions are showing up well."

Clubs Hear Dingledy

All this week Chairman Dingledy is appearing before civic groups, showing the new Community Chest film and speaking in behalf of the nine member agencies. Rotarians, Lions and many others have seen it, and last night The Townsmen, young men's club, heard the Chest story at the Y. M. C. A. and pledged $15.

Heading up the women's campaign teams which are covering the homes and neighborhood stores in the residential districts are Mrs. Agnes Howley, Mrs. Glenn Berry, Mrs. G. D. Hildebrand, Miss Iretta Dart, Mrs. Herbert S. Kirk and Mrs. John Reynolds.

Tomorrow their workers will join them for the tea.

GERMAN CRUISER REPORTED SUNK

BERLIN, Oct. 17.—Sinking of a small auxiliary German cruiser by a British destroyer off the Norwegian coast was announced today. Part of the crew was rescued by German ships.

Beware Coughs Following Flu

After the flu is over and gone, the cough that follows may develop into chronic bronchitis if neglected. Creomulsion relieves promptly because it goes right to the seat of the trouble to help loosen and expel germ laden phlegm, and aid nature to soothe and heal raw, tender, inflamed bronchial mucous membranes. No matter how many medicines you have tried, tell your druggist to sell you a bottle of Creomulsion with the understanding you must like the way it quickly allays the cough or you are to have your money back.

Soviet Thrust

Russian troops are reported to have penetrated German-dominated Rumania, crossed the border at Chilia and advanced as far south as Sulina (arrow). Increasing Red-Nazi friction is seen in the Soviet's announcement it had not received satisfactory advance information of Germany's troop movements into Rumania. Russia reportedly has promised Turkey "moral support" in resisting Axis pressure. (Central Press)

CONVULSIONS IN CHILDREN

Mothers are always excited and worried when a young child has a convulsion. Yet in most cases their fear is far greater than the convulsion warrants, for in young children the convulsion is more or less common and not serious. Apparently a human's nervous system isn't fully developed until about the age of three, and during this period it takes but little to upset the nervous system and bring on a convulsion. A child may react with a convulsion to some simple little infection which would cause an older person to have only a chill or fever.

Most people are so frightened by convulsions in children because they think they are a disease. The fact is they are only the symptoms of disease and they may be brought on by many conditions.

The sight of a convulsion is, of course, very frightening, and fills the ordinary person with a great feeling of helplessness. With little or no warning, the patient falls down, the eyes diverge, the arms, legs and head jerk and twist uncontrollably while the face becomes red and sometimes blue in color. The body alternately relaxes and stiffens for periods ranging from a few seconds to several minutes. All this time the patient may also be frothing at the mouth.

During the convulsion the child will be unconscious and when it is over, he will lapse into a deep sleep which may last for half an hour or may go on for two or three hours. When he awakens, he will feel quite weak, and will have no memory whatever of the attack.

Treatment for the ordinary convulsion, as distinguished from the epileptic fit, is easy, and simple—do nothing, or little. Many people believe that if the body's jerkings and twistings can be restrained the patient will be helped. The fact is, this doesn't do a bit of good. All the onlooker can do to help is hold the victim's head so it doesn't strike something, and, if the jaws are working spasmodically, as they often do, insert a corner of a towel between the teeth so the child doesn't bite its tongue.

Other than this, there is nothing to be done effectively. When the attack subsides, the patient should be left wherever he is to sleep as long as he will. This sleep is very beneficial and interrupting it is actually harmful to the patient.

Of course, a doctor should be summoned at once, for convulsions are, as I said, a symptom of a disease, probably a warning of the onset of some infection. The doctor, forewarned by a convulsion, can often stave off a serious illness by recognizing its symptoms before it has taken a really firm hold.

Soil-Building Practices Must Be Finished Soon

Lawrence County Farmers Have Until Last Of Month To Complete Work

Lawrence County farmers have until October 31 to carry out soil-building practices under the 1940 Agricultural Conservation Program, according to a reminder issued by the Lawrence County Agricultural Conservation Committee.

In order to receive credit on this year's program, soil-building practices, including the application of materials obtained under the Grant-of-Aid Plan, must be completed by October 31. The committee urges all farmers cooperating in the program to review the practices they have carried out under this year's program in order to be sure they have earned their maximum soil-building goal. If there is any question the farmers may have regarding any of their practices, they are urged to get in touch with the county office located at Court House Annex, or with their community committeeman.

SEEMS LIKE A BAD DREAM

This Pennsylvania lady says she used to be in constant misery. Tells how Vendol relieved her and recommends famous medicine to others.

MRS. ALEXANDER IRWIN of 2013 Pennsylvania Avenue, East WARREN, PENNSYLVANIA, says, "The misery I used to endure seems almost like a bad dream now, since Vendol brought such gratifying relief. I suffered daily from constipation which seemed to keep my stomach upset so that after eating I'd frequently feel bloated with gas, sour risings came up, and felt like a lump was choking me. I often felt embarassed in company by the frequent belching, and sometimes felt giddy with little spots dancing before my eyes, and my head would ache something awful.

"Vendol has done wonders for me and now I can honestly recommend it. It relieved my constipation so nicely and completely that those terrible feelings no longer bother me. I wouldn't be without Vendol.

While everyone suffering from stomach disorders, gas, bloating, cramps, indigestion, palpitation, "heartburn", or lump in the throat, cannot say their suffering is caused by constipation, yet if yours is definitely due to this annoying condition, you may find that Vendol is just what you are looking for, so why put off trying it? Get some at once from your nearest druggist and see for yourself what this popular medicine can do for you.

There is only one Vendol, and it comes in 3 sizes for your convenience. Larger bottles are the most economical. Sold at leading druggists, recommended especially by Eckerd's of New Castle, 18 E. Washington Street.

Exonerate Hute In Birt Death

FIND DRIVER WAS USING PRECAUTION

After hearing the testimony of eye witnesses to the accident which occurred at the intersection of West Washington and Smithfield street Saturday evening, when James Birt, of Smithfield street, was struck by an auto driven by Joseph Hute, of West Washington street, receiving fatal injuries from which he died several hours later in the Jameson Memorial hospital, a coroner's jury, summoned by Coroner T. F. Nugent, exonerated Hute of blame for the accident.

Hute testified that he failed to see Mr. Birt, who was 72 years of age, and who because of physical infirmities was unable to walk very fast. Mr. Birt, he stated, was attired in dark clothing, and was carrying packages in his arms. The first intimation he had of anyone being in the street, was when his lights fell on the packages. He said he swerved his car to the left to avoid striking Mr. Birt, the right front fender striking him and knocking him down. He said he applied his brakes immediately and was able to stop within a car length after Mr. Birt had been struck.

Mrs. Jessie Ferrell of Smithfield street, who was only 25 or 30 feet away from the accident, told a story similar to Hute's. She said she heard the screaching of the brakes, but did not see Mr. Birt struck because of the dark clothing he was wearing. She said she heard the impact of the collision, then saw his packages fly into the air, after which she noticed his body rolling along the ground. She helped put Mr. Birt into Hute's car and went along to the hospital. She stated that the street at that point is dark, and it is difficult for motorists to see.

George Williams, of Etna street, a youth who was standing across the street from where the accident occurred told a similar story.

Mrs. Lynn Kennedy, of West Washington street, told of seeing Mr. Birt going out of the West Side Dairy and stated that the packages he was carrying seemed to be so large as to obstruct his vision.

The jury was composed of Joseph Richards, Charles E. Patterson, Thomas A. McKay, Peter Rupp, William Richards and Charles E. Allen.

Routine Matters Before School Board Session

Little but routine business was handled Wednesday night when the New Castle school board held its regular monthly meeting. Aside from an argument over the broadcasting of football games the meeting took less than two hours time.

A contract was awarded to T. R. Roberts for a sewer cleaner at a price of $198.73.

The Saxon Juniors were granted the use of the Senior high gymnasium for seven Saturday nights during the winter, as they have been for many years.

The school board solicitor, Attorney Charles H. Young, was instructed to proceed against South New Castle Boro for $1152 tuition due the local board.

John B. Becktol, secretary of the board was ordered to procure eight tax duplicate books for 1941, at a cost of about $105.

Six more targets were authorized for the Senior high school shooting gallery. The idea has taken the fancy of the students and more targets are necessary.

St. Andrews church was granted the use of the Benjamin Franklin Junior high school on October 28 for the presentation of a group of professional entertainers.

Former Democratic State Chairman Is Against Third Term

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Oct. 17—Former Democratic State Chairman John H. Collins today cast his lot with the Willkie-for-President forces.

Collins, a resident of Coudersport, obtained a 30-day leave of absence as a bureau chief of the Department of Internal Affairs to direct the Democrats-for-Willkie drive in 17 central Pennsylvania counties.

Chairman of the Democratic State Committee from 1928 to 1932, Collins bolted because of his opposition to the third term and the New Deal. "If the president were to be given the third term," he said, "it would be all the easier for him to get four or five terms and thus keep himself in office."

PLAINGROVE

The following ladies of the churches are to collect and take vegetables and fruit to the Jameson Memorial hospital during the month of October: Mrs. Minnie Allen, Mrs. Martha McCommons, Mrs. Clara Seth, Mrs. Bertha Shoaff, Mrs. Ruth McConahy, Mrs. Sara Brown, Mrs. Lola Eppinger, Mrs. Philo Rodgers, Mrs. Alvi Stevenson, Mrs. Bert Studebaker and Mrs. Grace Sankey.

District Meeting In Ellwood Church

New Castle-Ellwood City Districts Of Shenango Presbyterial Have Meeting

Annual meeting of the New Castle and Ellwood City districts of Shenango Presbyterial was held Wednesday in the Bell Memorial Presbyterian church of Ellwood City.

At the morning session, beginning at 10 o'clock, Mrs. H. E. Alexander presided. After devotionals, led by Mrs. Oscar Rhodes, greetings from the Bell Memorial church were given by Mrs. Stella Jackson. Routine reports of the various secretaries and the treasurer, Mrs. Frank Woods, followed, after which Mrs. J. Wylie Brewster, president of Shenango Presbyterial, spoke briefly.

The introduction of the day's guest speakers took place at this time, Mrs. Alexander presenting Mrs. George Randall from the Board of National Missions, and Miss Eva Miller, a missionary to the Cameroun, West Africa.

Luncheon was served at noon by women of the Bell church to those attending, over 100 being present.

Mrs. John M. Houk presided at the afternoon session, which got underway at 1:30 o'clock, with Mrs. Joseph E. Pringle leading devotionals. During the afternoon's program, vocal solos were presented by Mrs. Clayton Houk and Mrs. Pringle.

Both speakers proved to be most interesting. Miss Miller told of her work in the Cameroun, West Africa, and displayed a number of charms, clothing, and other articles from that district. She, also, introduced Rev. William Johnston, a retired missionary from the Cameroun, who made a few remarks on the work there.

Mrs. Randall spoke of a trip she took this summer to Alaska, telling of missionary work there and of her work in Puerto Rico and among the Negroes.

The benediction was pronounced following the singing of a hymn.

The annual meeting for all four districts of Shenango Presbyterial will be held next April in the Leesburg Presbyterian church. Today, the Sharon and New Wilmington districts are meeting in Rich Hill church.

Registration Over; Draft Boards Of State Begin Work

Sorting Cards Is First Duty

All Men Registered Will Be Sent Long Questionnaire To Be Filled Out

NATIONAL LOTTERY TO GIVE NUMBERS

By RAYMOND WILCOVE
International News Service Staff Correspondent

HARRISBURG, Oct. 17.—With the registration of 1,500,000 Pennsylvania men completed without incident, the state's 422 local draft boards immediately swung into action today.

Without fanfare, each local board plunged into its first task as soon as it received from the county commissioners the registration cards of all men between the ages of 21 and 36 who registered yesterday for military training.

To Sort Cards

The first step by the boards, all composed of three local men appointed by the president, was to sort out the registration cards of non-residents. These will be forwarded to their home districts.

The next step was to shuffle the registration cards and number them in black ink, starting with the number 1 and continuing until all the cards had received their serial numbers. Later, following the national lottery, the order number will be added in red ink to the cards. This number will determine the order in which each man will be called up for military service, unless previously exempted or placed in a deferred class.

Having numbered all the cards each board will immediately mail to the state draft headquarters at Harrisburg the names and addresses of all registrants. The governor in turn will then telegraph to the national draft headquarters at Washington the total number of men registered in the state and the highest number of men registered in any one draft area.

Send Questionnaires

The next important step by the draft boards will be the mailing to each registered man of a long questionnaire. This is expected to be done within a week or 10 days, following the national lottery, the date for which is expected to be announced soon by the president.

When the national lottery has been held each local board will number its registration cards in accordance with the numbers drawn at Washington. Thus, if numbers 285 is the first one drawn at Washington, each local board will take the card with that serial number and assign order number 1 to it. If number 76 is the second number drawn, each local board will take the card with that serial number and assign order number 2 to it. And so on until all the cards have their order numbers.

Each board will then mail out 50 questionnaires daily in the order in which the numbers were assigned. These questionnaires must be returned within five days. Anyone having difficulty answering the questions is advised to go to his nearest advisory board for registrants.

Four Classifications

Upon return of the questionnaires the board will determine from the information in what classification each man should be placed. These are the four general classes:

Class 1—Those persons available for training and service in the land or naval forces. (These are the men who will be subject to the first draft calls.)

Class 2—Those persons deferred because the public interest is best served by their staying at their usual work. (This applies to men employed in key defense industries.)

Class 3—Those persons deferred because others are dependent upon them for support.

Class 4—Those persons deferred from service either by the law itself or for physical disability, or for other reasons.

Each man will be notified by mail of his classification. If not satisfied, he may file an appeal within five days with his board. The appeal will be submitted to a board of appeals.

Men placed in Class 1 will receive a notice from their board ordering them to appear for a physical examination. Those judged physically unfit for military service will be placed in Class 4.

When the president has issued his first call for draftees, those called upon to serve will receive a notice from their draft board of the time and place to report for duty. The length of military training will be one year or more.

All registered men were advised to keep in touch with their local draft board and to scan their bulletin boards constantly.

"Remember, it is your duty to learn what your local board is doing about you," the national director of selective service warned.

Lingerie Expert Tells Of Its Care

Miss Jane Wood Gives Pointers On Washing Dainty Women's Wear

Washability Expert from the Lux Laboratories

Miss Jane Wood, Lux washability expert, who is the guest of The Strouss-Hirshberg Co. this week, says that modern women who wear only a few ounces of lingerie is dressed as adequately under the surface as her mother was with six separate garments.

Comparing the thirteen yards or so of heavy cotton muslin undergarments that women wore in those days with the few yards of silk or rayon today, modern woman has become emancipated, particularly when it comes to washing these garments. Today, the modern girl can Lux these garments in the bathroom bowl, while her mother had to take a full family washtub.

As a result, the modern girl can have a wider variety of these beautiful garments. Miss Wood will be at the Strouss-Hirshberg store all this week to give expert advice on their care.

Crystalline insulin is a great boon to diabetics.

It is a slow acting insulin, making fewer doses necessary.

Patients now need only 75 per cent of insulin formerly taken.

This is usually administered in two injections each day.

There are more than 500,000 diabetics in the United States.

There are two cases of diabetes—mild and severe.

Crystalline insulin is efficient in both types.

Allergic reactions formerly occurred after injection of old insulin.

Something resembling hives spreading over the entire body.

This unpleasantness is eliminated by use of crystalline insulin.

The danger of shock from too much insulin has also been lessened.

Jewelry Salesman Victim Of Thugs

Fort Wayne Pair Set Upon Salesman And Escape With $60,000 To $75,000 Worth Of Gems

(International News Service)

FORT WAYNE, Ind., Oct. 17.—A city-wide police search was under way today for two youthful bandits who last night slugged Sol Roseman, 60, of New York City, and robbed him of a bag containing cut diamonds and rings valued at from $60,000 to $75,000.

Roseman, representative of a New York jewelry firm, had called on several Fort Wayne jewelers and was on his way to a bus station when attacked. One bandit grabbed for his bag, beating him over the head with the butt of his revolver. The other struck the salesman on the hands, forcing him to loose his grip on the satchel.

The assault was so sudden, Roseman said later, that he had no chance to release a hidden lever which would have discharged a stream of tear gas from the bag, at the same time ringing a bell.

The robbers escaped in a waiting automobile.

'EGG' STATE

Pennsylvania ranks first in the United States in the dollar value of its egg crop and second in the number of eggs produced, the Pennsylvania Chain Store council reported in opening a producer-consumer campaign to move a heavy surplus of eggs into consumption in behalf of the state's $65,000,000 poultry industry.

SORE THROAT DUE TO COLDS? demand TONSILINE

To Relieve Bad Cough In a Hurry, Mix This at Home

Swift Acting, and Saves Big Money. Easily Mixed.

You'll be surprised how quickly and easily you can relieve coughs due to colds, when you try this splendid recipe. It gives you about four times as much cough medicine for your money, and you'll find it truly wonderful, for real relief.

Make a syrup by stirring 2 cups of granulated sugar and one cup of water a few moments, until dissolved. No cooking needed—it's no trouble at all. Then put 2½ ounces of Pinex (obtained from any druggist) into a pint bottle. Add your syrup and you have a full pint of medicine that will amaze you by its quick action. It never spoils, lasts a family a long time, and tastes fine—children love it.

This simple mixture takes right hold of a cough. For real results, you've never seen anything better. It loosens the phlegm, soothes the irritated membranes, and quickly eases soreness and difficult breathing.

Pinex is a compound containing Norway Pine and palatable guaiacol, in concentrated form, well-known for its prompt action in coughs and bronchial irritations. Money refunded if it doesn't please you in every way.

BACKACHE, LEG PAINS MAY BE DANGER SIGN

Of Tired Kidneys

If backache and leg pains are making you miserable, don't just complain and do nothing about them. Nature may be warning you that your kidneys need attention.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking excess acids and poisonous waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

If the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters don't work well, poisonous waste matter stays in the blood. These poisons may start nagging backaches, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from the blood. Get Doan's Pills.

CONVULSIONS IN CHILDREN

Mothers are always excited and worried when a young child has a convulsion. Yet in most cases their fear is far greater than the convulsion warrants, for in young children the convulsion is more or less common and not serious. Apparently a human's nervous system isn't fully developed until about the age of three, and during this period it takes but little to upset the nervous system and bring on a convulsion. A child may react with a convulsion to some simple little infection which would cause an older person to have only a chill or fever.

Most people are so frightened by convulsions in children because they think they are a disease. The fact is they are only the symptoms of disease and they may be brought on by many conditions.

The sight of a convulsion is, of course, very frightening, and fills the ordinary person with a great feeling of helplessness. With little or no warning, the patient falls down, the eyes diverge, the arms, legs and head jerk and twist uncontrollably while the face becomes red and sometimes blue in color. The body alternately relaxes and stiffens for periods ranging from a few seconds to several minutes. All this time the patient may also be frothing at the mouth.

During the convulsion the child will be unconscious and when it is over, he will lapse into a deep sleep which may last for half an hour or may go on for two or three hours. When he awakens, he will feel quite weak, and will have no memory whatever of the attack.

Treatment for the ordinary convulsion, as distinguished from the epileptic fit, is easy, and simple—do nothing, or little. Many people believe that if the body's jerkings and twistings can be restrained the patient will be helped. The fact is, this doesn't do a bit of good. All the onlooker can do to help is hold the victim's head so it doesn't strike something, and, if the jaws are working spasmodically, as they often do, insert a corner of a towel between the teeth so the child doesn't bite its tongue.

Other than this, there is nothing to be done effectively. When the attack subsides, the patient should be left wherever he is to sleep as long as he will. This sleep is very beneficial and interrupting it is actually harmful to the patient.

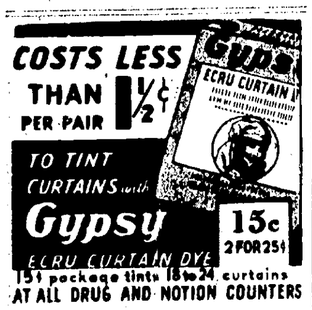

Of course, a doctor should be summoned at once, for convulsions are, as I said, a symptom of a disease, probably a warning of the onset of some infection. The doctor, forewarned by a convulsion, can often stave off a serious illness by recognizing its symptoms before it has taken a really firm hold.

Soil-Building Practices Must Be Finished Soon

Lawrence County Farmers Have Until Last Of Month To Complete Work

Lawrence County farmers have until October 31 to carry out soil-building practices under the 1940 Agricultural Conservation Program, according to a reminder issued by the Lawrence County Agricultural Conservation Committee.

In order to receive credit on this year's program, soil-building practices, including the application of materials obtained under the Grant-of-Aid Plan, must be completed by October 31. The committee urges all farmers cooperating in the program to review the practices they have carried out under this year's program in order to be sure they have earned their maximum soil-building goal. If there is any question the farmers may have regarding any of their practices, they are urged to get in touch with the county office located at Court House Annex, or with their community committeeman.

SEEMS LIKE A BAD DREAM

This Pennsylvania lady says she used to be in constant misery. Tells how Vendol relieved her and recommends famous medicine to others.

MRS. ALEXANDER IRWIN of 2013 Pennsylvania Avenue, East WARREN, PENNSYLVANIA, says, "The misery I used to endure seems almost like a bad dream now, since Vendol brought such gratifying relief. I suffered daily from constipation which seemed to keep my stomach upset so that after eating I'd frequently feel bloated with gas, sour risings came up, and felt like a lump was choking me. I often felt embarassed in company by the frequent belching, and sometimes felt giddy with little spots dancing before my eyes, and my head would ache something awful.

"Vendol has done wonders for me and now I can honestly recommend it. It relieved my constipation so nicely and completely that those terrible feelings no longer bother me. I wouldn't be without Vendol.

While everyone suffering from stomach disorders, gas, bloating, cramps, indigestion, palpitation, "heartburn", or lump in the throat, cannot say their suffering is caused by constipation, yet if yours is definitely due to this annoying condition, you may find that Vendol is just what you are looking for, so why put off trying it? Get some at once from your nearest druggist and see for yourself what this popular medicine can do for you.

There is only one Vendol, and it comes in 3 sizes for your convenience. Larger bottles are the most economical. Sold at leading druggists, recommended especially by Eckerd's of New Castle, 18 E. Washington Street.

Registration Over; Draft Boards Of State Begin Work

All Men Registered Will Be Sent Long Questionnaire To Be Filled Out

NATIONAL LOTTERY TO GIVE NUMBERS

By RAYMOND WILCOVE
International News Service Staff Correspondent

HARRISBURG, Oct. 17.—With the registration of 1,500,000 Pennsylvania men completed without incident, the state's 422 local draft boards immediately swung into action today.

Without fanfare, each local board plunged into its first task as soon as it received from the county commissioners the registration cards of all men between the ages of 21 and 36 who registered yesterday for military training.

To Sort Cards

The first step by the boards, all composed of three local men appointed by the president, was to sort out the registration cards of non-residents. These will be forwarded to their home districts.

The next step was to shuffle the registration cards and number them in black ink, starting with the number 1 and continuing until all the cards had received their serial numbers. Later, following the national lottery, the order number will be added in red ink to the cards. This number will determine the order in which each man will be called up for military service, unless previously exempted or placed in a deferred class.

Having numbered all the cards each board will immediately mail to the state draft headquarters at Harrisburg the names and addresses of all registrants. The governor in turn will then telegraph to the national draft headquarters at Washington the total number of men registered in the state and the highest number of men registered in any one draft area.

Send Questionnaires

The next important step by the draft boards will be the mailing to each registered man of a long questionnaire. This is expected to be done within a week or 10 days, following the national lottery, the date for which is expected to be announced soon by the president.

When the national lottery has been held each local board will number its registration cards in accordance with the numbers drawn at Washington. Thus, if numbers 285 is the first one drawn at Washington, each local board will take the card with that serial number and assign order number 1 to it. If number 76 is the second number drawn, each local board will take the card with that serial number and assign order number 2 to it. And so on until all the cards have their order numbers.

Each board will then mail out 50 questionnaires daily in the order in which the numbers were assigned. These questionnaires must be returned within five days. Anyone having difficulty answering the questions is advised to go to his nearest advisory board for registrants.

Four Classifications

Upon return of the questionnaires the board will determine from the information in what classification each man should be placed. These are the four general classes:

Class 1—Those persons available for training and service in the land or naval forces. (These are the men who will be subject to the first draft calls.)

Class 2—Those persons deferred because the public interest is best served by their staying at their usual work. (This applies to men employed in key defense industries.)

Class 3—Those persons deferred because others are dependent upon them for support.

Class 4—Those persons deferred from service either by the law itself or for physical disability, or for other reasons.

Each man will be notified by mail of his classification. If not satisfied, he may file an appeal within five days with his board. The appeal will be submitted to a board of appeals.

Men placed in Class 1 will receive a notice from their board ordering them to appear for a physical examination. Those judged physically unfit for military service will be placed in Class 4.

When the president has issued his first call for draftees, those called upon to serve will receive a notice from their draft board of the time and place to report for duty. The length of military training will be one year or more.

All registered men were advised to keep in touch with their local draft board and to scan their bulletin boards constantly.

"Remember, it is your duty to learn what your local board is doing about you," the national director of selective service warned.

Miss Jane Wood Gives Pointers On Washing Dainty Women's Wear

Washability Expert from the Lux Laboratories

Miss Jane Wood, Lux washability expert, who is the guest of The Strouss-Hirshberg Co. this week, says that modern women who wear only a few ounces of lingerie is dressed as adequately under the surface as her mother was with six separate garments.

Comparing the thirteen yards or so of heavy cotton muslin undergarments that women wore in those days with the few yards of silk or rayon today, modern woman has become emancipated, particularly when it comes to washing these garments. Today, the modern girl can Lux these garments in the bathroom bowl, while her mother had to take a full family washtub.

As a result, the modern girl can have a wider variety of these beautiful garments. Miss Wood will be at the Strouss-Hirshberg store all this week to give expert advice on their care.

Patients now need only 75 per cent of insulin formerly taken.

This is usually administered in two injections each day.

There are more than 500,000 diabetics in the United States.

There are two cases of diabetes—mild and severe.

Jewelry Salesman Victim Of Thugs

Fort Wayne Pair Set Upon Salesman And Escape With $60,000 To $75,000 Worth Of Gems

(International News Service)

FORT WAYNE, Ind., Oct. 17.—A city-wide police search was under way today for two youthful bandits who last night slugged Sol Roseman, 60, of New York City, and robbed him of a bag containing cut diamonds and rings valued at from $60,000 to $75,000.

Roseman, representative of a New York jewelry firm, had called on several Fort Wayne jewelers and was on his way to a bus station when attacked. One bandit grabbed for his bag, beating him over the head with the butt of his revolver. The other struck the salesman on the hands, forcing him to loose his grip on the satchel.

The assault was so sudden, Roseman said later, that he had no chance to release a hidden lever which would have discharged a stream of tear gas from the bag, at the same time ringing a bell.

The robbers escaped in a waiting automobile.

Swift Acting, and Saves Big Money. Easily Mixed.

You'll be surprised how quickly and easily you can relieve coughs due to colds, when you try this splendid recipe. It gives you about four times as much cough medicine for your money, and you'll find it truly wonderful, for real relief.

Make a syrup by stirring 2 cups of granulated sugar and one cup of water a few moments, until dissolved. No cooking needed—it's no trouble at all. Then put 2½ ounces of Pinex (obtained from any druggist) into a pint bottle. Add your syrup and you have a full pint of medicine that will amaze you by its quick action. It never spoils, lasts a family a long time, and tastes fine—children love it.

This simple mixture takes right hold of a cough. For real results, you've never seen anything better. It loosens the phlegm, soothes the irritated membranes, and quickly eases soreness and difficult breathing.

Pinex is a compound containing Norway Pine and palatable guaiacol, in concentrated form, well-known for its prompt action in coughs and bronchial irritations. Money refunded if it doesn't please you in every way.

BACKACHE, LEG PAINS MAY BE DANGER SIGN

Of Tired Kidneys

If backache and leg pains are making you miserable, don't just complain and do nothing about them. Nature may be warning you that your kidneys need attention.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking excess acids and poisonous waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

If the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters don't work well, poisonous waste matter stays in the blood. These poisons may start nagging backaches, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from the blood. Get Doan's Pills.

Washington May Upset New Castle

TEAM WILL LEAVE FRIDAY AFTERNOON

Continuing a football rivalry that began back in 1927 the New Castle High "Red Hurricane" football team will go to Washington Friday night to battle the Washington High gridders at the new Washington stadium. The kickoff is slated for 8 o'clock. New Castle seeks its sixth win of the current year and the third in Class AA.

The Washington High team has not defeated a New Castle eleven for nine years, it was back in 1931 that Washington came here under Coach Hank Day and plastered a 27 to 0 defeat on the Bridenbaughmen. Since that date no Washington team either here or there has been able to dump the locals.

Rather Crippled Up

The New Castle team has four on the injured list as they prepare for the battle tomorrow night. Freddy McKee and Larry Roberts both have shoulder injuries, Morgan has a badly injured hand and Adamo has a split tongue suffered in the McKeesport game. None of the four may start at Washington, it was intimated by Coach Bridenbaugh.

Ben Izzo is available for the quarterbacking job, if McKee does not start, while Genkinger can hold down the center spot, and Masters or Peters can take care of the guard spot, with Burris ready to replace Roberts. The rest of the lineup is intact, as started the McKeesport game.

Good Passing Attack

Washington High has a big team; one that will outweigh the locals, the scouts report. The only Washington loss to date has been the 19 to 6 trimming given the Little Presidents by Charleroi early in the year. Last week Wash. High tripped a fast Uniontown High eleven 13 to 0.

The Washingtons have a varied passing attack that may find the locals unprepared to halt. Coach Bill Amos has a powerhouse line and a fine set of backs, but they lack experience, being mostly new men. New Castle can be counted on to throw quite a few passes also, with Lee and Bucci taking care of this end of the offensive attack. Both boys have looked good with aerial thrusts this week in practice.

Will Leave After Dinner

The New Castle High squad will board a bus at the stadium at 1:30 o'clock for the trip to Washington on Friday afternoon. The squad will be quartered at the George Washington Hotel until just before game time. Tickets for the game are on sale here at the Sporting Goods store.

The New Castle High band is not making the trip to Washington. No doubt several hundred New Castle fans will make the journey by autos, leaving here around 5 o'clock. The mileage is somewhere around 80, one way.

Series To Date

1927—New Castle 39, Wash. 0
1928—New Castle 0, Wash. 0
1929—New Castle 0, Wash. 6
1930—New Castle 6, Wash. 7
1931—New Castle 0, Wash. 27
1932—New Castle 21, Wash. 0

1937—New Castle 13, Wash. 12
1938—New Castle 7, Wash. 6
1939—New Castle 33, Wash. 0

Recapitulation: New Castle won 9, lost 3, tied one. New Castle scored 185 points; Washington scored 64 points.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS' LAND

Steve O'Neil is coming back to the Big Show, having been signed to coach the Detroit Tigers, American league flag-winners. Steve formerly caught for and managed the Cleveland Indians. For the last three years he has managed the Buffalo Bisons in the International league.

Duck hunters were out in force yesterday. Plenty of ducks were reported at Sugar Lake. However, many brought down were lost. One duck hunter declared: "There were so many duck hunters it sounded like an army shotgun barrage."

Charley Burley of Pittsburgh and Eddie Pierce of New Jersey are scheduled to box 10 rounds tonight at the Zivic Sports arena, Butler street, Pittsburgh. . . . Army Harriers defeated the Pitt Panthers. . . . Seventy-two thousand spectators are expected at the Minneasota-Ohio State game at Columbus, Saturday. . . . George Chip and Jack Dillon fought about 16 times. That record doesn't compare with the Mt. Union and Wooster college grid teams. They will play their thirty-second game Saturday at Alliance.

Carl Nedom, Nebraska graduate from Salinas, Calif., who ranks as probably Notre Dame's No. 1 fan, saw his first gams in Notre Dame stadium when the Irish defeated Georgia Tech, 26 to 20. He has several large scrapbooks, a complete file for years of Notre Dame publications, and an encyclopedic memory.

Dodgers Seeking New Material For Season Of 1941

Need Pitching And Outfield Strength To Make Race Out Of National League

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Oct. 17.—"We've made more deals in the last couple of years than any other club in the National league and we expect to keep right on making them, although we haven't got anything on the fire right now," President Larry MacPhail, of the Brooklyn Dodgers, said today in reply to persistent reports that he had already virtually closed several transactions.

"Naturally, we are interested in obtaining some seasoned players, especially pitchers and outfielders, but we don't expect to do anything before the annual minor league meeting at Atlanta during December," the Dodger head man added.

MacPhail said that whichever club among the Cincinnati Reds, Dodgers and St. Louis Cardinals is improved the most this winter will win the National league pennant next season, and the Dodgers won't lay back and let the parade pass by.

"All we want is for somebody to give us a chance to make a reasonable trade," he said.

"But reports that we are dickering with the Giants are nothing more than rumors. I haven't talked about a trade with the Giants or vice versa."

The Dodgers still are in the market for pitcher Kirby Higbe of the Philadelphia Phillies, "but we are in the market for anybody we can get that will help us," Macphail said.

Shenango High At Mars Today

Local Grid Forces Concluding Drill For Week-End Clashes

Shenango Township High, however, performs earlier than usual, battling Mars High, this afternoon in Mars. The East New Castle aggregation left for the scene of the battle early today, in good physical condition and loaded with optimism.

New Castle High will conclude practice drills at Taggart Stadium, tonight. The "Canes", riding the crest of four game winning streak, hope to annex a verdict over Washington, tomorrow night in Washington.

Union Township High is all keyed up for tomorrow afternoon's batttle with Zelienople High, away from home. Coach John Susko, will probably start Brown and Taylor at end; Presnar and Allen at tackle; Dudo and Sniezek at guard; Carpenter at center; Viton at quarterback; Kline and Jaskolka at half and Ringbloom at full.

BESSEMER HIGH GRIDDER INJURED

Frank Mediate, aged 17 years, of Hillsville, halfback on the Bessemer high school team will be lost to the team for the rest of the season, as the result of injuries received in practice Tuesday evening, when he had a bone broken in his right ankle in scrimmage.

Mediate's injuries were not thought to be as serious at first, but examination at the Jameson Memorial hospital, where he was removed yesterday, revealed a fracture. His injury will be a severe blow to the Bessemer team.

SHORT SPORTS

Tom Harmon of Michigan, John Kimbrough of Texas Aggies, Capt. Milt Piepul of Notre Dame, Frank Reagan of Penn, Jack Crain of Texas, Bill deCorrevont of Northwestern—these household names among the gridiron backs will be overshadowed by that of Newcomer Steve Juzwik of Notre Dame if the chunky Irish right halfback can continue his present pace.

Capt. Milt (Moose) Piepul, Notre Dame's ace fullback, had a cold and a sore back when he faced Georgia Tech so he was relieved of his duties of kicking off and kicking extra points, except to make one conversion from placement. He carried the ball only four times, making 19 yards, as compared with 98 yards and a touchdown in 10 trips against Pacific.

Notre Dame's public relations department is disturbed by Capt. Milt (Moose) Piepul's nickname. The student section, 3,000 male voices strong, starts demanding the appearance of "Moose, Moose, Moose" when the Irish need yards badly. And their yell comes over the air sounding for all the world like a chorus of booing!

Phil Dutchin, Kentucky halfback, is the son of Carlisle Dutchin, coach at Murray Teachers.

SPORTS WORLD RAMBLINGS

Sports potpourri:—"Buck" Newsome, one of the heroes of the World Series cashed in with another witty crack when asked to indorce a new perfume. The somewhat eccentric Detroit pitcher turned down the offer. The reason: The fee involved was not worth the heckling he'd receive from the dugouts next season.....

Walter Marlett, 29, father of three sons, is being groomed for the left tackle post at U. C. L. A. Del Lyman, the Bruin's regular tackle, underwent an emergency appendectomy operation and will be out for the rest of the season. Mickey Anderson, Southern California quarterback, is back in action following a bench term due to an injured knee....

Bennie Bierman, generalisimo of the Minnesota Gophers, evidently isn't worried about Saturday's clash with Ohio State. With his eleven enjoying a rest last Saturday, Bierman didn't even bother scouting the Ohio State-Northwestern tiff..The consensus of opinion is that the present Fordham team is the best eleven in Jim Crowley's era.....

Paul Christman, the pegging fool from Missouri, continues to thread the needle with his accurate passes. To date, the Mizzou passer has compiled 26 out of 61 aerials....Tulane is being hard hit in many ways. Recently, while turning a cartwheel, one of the cheerleaders broke an arm and will be out for the season!....

If Nick Drahos, of Cornell, isn't the best tackle in the collegiate ranks, name someone who can top him?....Ohio State was impotent against Northwestern. The Buckeyes gained but six yards by rushing against the Wildcats....Mike Byelene, one of Purdue's keymen, in fact 'the big man,' will be out for three weeks. The ex-Massillon gridder fractured one of his ribs last week-end.....

This Bennie Bierman is so fastidious about his elevens that he lets his gridders charge a mechanically controlled canvas dummy that registers the push of the lineman's charge....Answer to question: The team you have in mind was Colgate's 1932 eleven which marched through undefeated, untied and unscored upon.....

Mercer County drum-beaters are trying to work up a post season clash involving Massillon and Farrell. Don't ask us why....If it would come down to a fight, Catholic University's line probably would cop the title in the collegiate ranks. Every lineman on the Catholic eleven is a member of the boxing team!....Villanova, which ranks highly in grid circles, wasn't so hot back in '23. That season, the Wildcats played eight games, losing them all. To top it off, Villanova failed to score a single point.....

Walter "Steamboat" Reid, University of Kentucky tackle, had his nickname long before he came to college. A Paducah, Ky., boy, Reid has spent every summer since his grade school days working on a steamboat that plied the Ohio and Mississippi rivers.

Harrisburg New Farm For Pirates

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 17.—Another minor league ally was added today to the roster of the Pittsburgh Pirates.

President Bill Benswanger, of the Bucaneers, and President John B. Warden, Manager Lester Bell and two other officials of the Harrisburg club of the interstate league, a Class B circuit, reached an agreement at the ball club's headquarters here and signed formal papers, the local office said.

The interstate league is one of the youngest and one of the most flourishing minor loops in the country, according to the Pirates. Starting out in 1939 as a Class C organization, with only a four-club circuit, made up of Allentown, Sunbury, Hazleton and Trenton, it expanded to eight cities and advanced to a Class B ranking last year through the addition of Harrisburg, York, Wilmington and Reading. Later the Hazleton franchise was transferred to Lancaster.

Tempting Grid Dish Saturday Afternoon

By LAWTON CARVER
International News Service Sports Editor

NEW YORK, Oct. 17.—Eastern football teams today looked ahead to the coming week-end with understandable misgivings, for our prestige around here may get one of its rudest jolts of the season in a banner lineup of intersectional gridiron skirmishing.

With Pittsburgh meeting Fordham, two of the east's best elevens thus were lined up against each other while Cornell will be engaged in strictly eastern warfare with Syracuse and the same applies to Pennsylvania, which takes on Princeton. Hence, four of the east's very best—Pitt, Fordham, Cornell and Penn—won't be involved in the intersectional strife, but many of the rest will, and the outlook for them isn't particularly reassuring.

Here are the headline struggles involving the east against outsiders.

Georgia vs. Columbia.
Duke vs. Colgate.
Duquesne vs. Mississippi.
Notre Dame vs. Carnegie Tech.
Idaho vs. Boston College.
Drake vs. Navy.
Villanova vs. Baylor.
Detroit vs. Manhattan.
Michigan State vs. Temple.

Of the foregoing there are just two games that may be regarded as cinches, if there is such a thing in football—Notre Dame over Carnegie Tech and Boston College over Idaho.

Notre Dame Favored

Assuming that Notre Dame, with one of the great teams in its history, must beat de-emphasized Carnegie Tech, and that Boston College, seemingly a national threat, can't miss against Idaho, which

They're Really Aerial-Minded

We don't know if the San Jose State Spartans are aerial-minded on the football field, but off the grid they sure are! So much so that the California squad uses air transportation for all its games away from home. Here two airline stewardesses pose with San Jose State stars, Truck Tornell, left, and Captain Kenny Cook.

Hay Ride Enjoyed By Blue Jay Scouts

ELLWOOD CITY, Oct. 17—Yes, sir, The Farmer is the man! If you don't think so, just ask one of the girls of the Blue Jay Scout troop.

The Girl Scouts met in front of the Baptist church where cars were furnished to take the girls to the Moyer Dairy farm, on the Ellwood-Zelienople road. Misses Edith Worcester and Marian Davis were in charge.

When all the girls arrived, they were shown the pasteurization of milk, the cooling and bottling processes. Then the girls were taken to the pasture to see the cows that provide the milk.

The evening's thrill followed when Mr. Moyer harnessed the two horses "Bob and Scott" to a huge wagon full of hay. All the girls jumped on the wagon and were off for a merry ride. While riding, some of the girls hopped off and played leap frog. After the ride, they went home and told everybody what a wonderful time they had. Emma Mozes, scribe.

hasn't won a game or even scored a touchdown in three starts, then the east will get an even break in those two.

But what about the rest?

Columbia is promising while Georgia is loaded and will be bouncing back from the Mississippi defeat, Colgate may get going, but faces an extremely tough foe in Duke, whipped up by the Tennessee setback; Duquesne takes on a potential southern leader in Mississippi; Villanova with high hopes, goes down into the southwest to face a dangerous Baylor eleven; Navy seems to be under way and probably will win, but conceivably could be upset by a Drake team, wich will be gunning for this one; Manhattan faces a team with considerable punch in Detroit; Temple, twice beaten, opposes a Michigan State eleven, which held Michigan to a one touchdown win and beat Purdue.

Of them all, we think the outstanding contests will be the ones between Columbia and Georgia, Duquesne and Mississippi, and Michigan State and Temple, for these look like pretty tough, close contests viewed this far in advance, with the outcome a virtual toss-up. The breaks will be extremely important in those three, and could be in the rest, too.

Pardon Board Hears Plea For New Castle Youth

(International News Service)

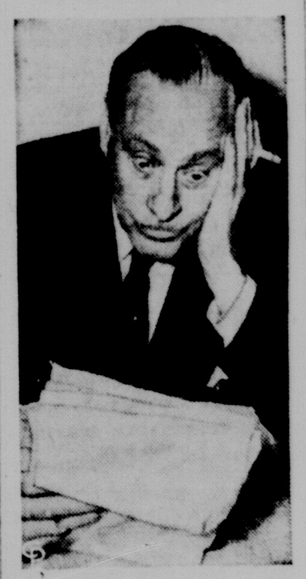

HARRISBURG, Oct. 17.—The State Board of Pardons today heard a lengthy plea for commutation of a life sentence being served by Charles A. Llewellyn, 31, New Castle, for his part in the murder of Clark Rae, elderly recluse of Neshannock township, in January, 1930.

Llewellyn, who was 21 at the time of the crime, and three companions, William Grimm, Jack McDevitt and Jesse Martin, sought to rob Rae and his brother after two previous attempts had failed. They attempted to frighten the brothers by firing bullets through a window.

Edward K. Logan, New Castle attorney, said that "public opinion in Lawrence county is strong for commutation of the sentence."

He added that persons connected with the case had written to the board recommending clemency.

Whether John Barrymore, pictured above in court, can make more money as screen actor or stage performer is up to Referee in Bankruptcy Ernest P. Utley of Los Angeles, Cal. The greater part of the money, in any case, will go to Barrymore's creditors under an arrangement made last June for an extension of credit.

Washington May Upset New Castle

TEAM WILL LEAVE FRIDAY AFTERNOON

Continuing a football rivalry that began back in 1927 the New Castle High "Red Hurricane" football team will go to Washington Friday night to battle the Washington High gridders at the new Washington stadium. The kickoff is slated for 8 o'clock. New Castle seeks its sixth win of the current year and the third in Class AA.

The Washington High team has not defeated a New Castle eleven for nine years, it was back in 1931 that Washington came here under Coach Hank Day and plastered a 27 to 0 defeat on the Bridenbaughmen. Since that date no Washington team either here or there has been able to dump the locals.

Rather Crippled Up

The New Castle team has four on the injured list as they prepare for the battle tomorrow night. Freddy McKee and Larry Roberts both have shoulder injuries, Morgan has a badly injured hand and Adamo has a split tongue suffered in the McKeesport game. None of the four may start at Washington, it was intimated by Coach Bridenbaugh.

Ben Izzo is available for the quarterbacking job, if McKee does not start, while Genkinger can hold down the center spot, and Masters or Peters can take care of the guard spot, with Burris ready to replace Roberts. The rest of the lineup is intact, as started the McKeesport game.

Good Passing Attack

Washington High has a big team; one that will outweigh the locals, the scouts report. The only Washington loss to date has been the 19 to 6 trimming given the Little Presidents by Charlerol early in the year. Last week Wash. High tripped a fast Uniontown High eleven 13 to 0.

The Washingtons have a varied passing attack that may find the locals unprepared to halt. Coach Bill Amos has a powerhouse line and a fine set of backs, but they lack experience, being mostly new men. New Castle can be counted on to throw quite a few passes also, with Lee and Bucci taking care of this end of the offensive attack. Both boys have looked good with aerial thrusts this week in practice.

Will Leave After Dinner

The New Castle High squad will board a bus at the stadium at 1:30 o'clock for the trip to Washington on Friday afternoon. The squad will be quartered at the George Washington Hotel until just before game time. Tickets for the game are on sale here at the Sporting Goods store.

The New Castle High band is not making the trip to Washington. No doubt several hundred New Castle fans will make the journey by autos, leaving here around 5 o'clock. The mileage is somewhere around 80, one way.

Series To Date

Dodgers Seeking New Material For Season Of 1941

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Oct. 17.—"We've made more deals in the last couple of years than any other club in the National league and we expect to keep right on making them, although we haven't got anything on the fire right now," President Larry MacPhail, of the Brooklyn Dodgers, said today in reply to persistent reports that he had already virtually closed several transactions.

"Naturally, we are interested in obtaining some seasoned players, especially pitchers and outfielders, but we don't expect to do anything before the annual minor league meeting at Atlanta during December," the Dodger head man added.

MacPhail said that whichever club among the Cincinnati Reds, Dodgers and St. Louis Cardinals is improved the most this winter will win the National league pennant next season, and the Dodgers won't lay back and let the parade pass by.

"All we want is for somebody to give us a chance to make a reasonable trade," he said.

"But reports that we are dickering with the Giants are nothing more than rumors. I haven't talked about a trade with the Giants or vice versa."

The Dodgers still are in the market for pitcher Kirby Higbe of the Philadelphia Phillies, "but we are in the market for anybody we can get that will help us," MacPhail said.

Shenango High At Mars Today

Local Grid Forces Concluding Drill For Week-End Clashes

Lawrence county grid forces are winding up drills in preparation for week-end tilts.

Shenango Township High, however, performs earlier than usual, battling Mars High, this afternoon in Mars. The East New Castle aggregation left for the scene of the battle early today, in good physical condition and loaded with optimism.

New Castle High will conclude practice drills at Taggart Stadium, tonight. The "Canes", riding the crest of four game winning streak, hope to annex a verdict over Washington, tomorrow night in Washington.

Union Township High is all keyed up for tomorrow afternoon's battle with Zelienople High, away from home. Coach John Susko, will probably start Brown and Taylor at end; Presnar and Allen at tackle; Dudo and Sniezek at guard; Carpenter at center; Viton at quarterback; Kline and Jaskolka at half and Ringbloom at full.

Bessemer High takes on a husky foe, meeting East Brady High, Saturday afternoon at East Brady. The Cementers, plagued by injuries during the past couple of weeks, are rounding back into condition.

BESSEMER HIGH GRIDDER INJURED

Frank Mediate, aged 17 years, of Hillsville, halfback on the Bessemer high school team will be lost to the team for the rest of the season, as the result of injuries received in practice Tuesday evening, when he had a bone broken in his right ankle in scrimmage.

Mediate's injuries were not thought to be as serious at first, but examination at the Jameson Memorial hospital, where he was removed yesterday, revealed a fracture. His injury will be a severe blow to the Bessemer team.

SHORT SPORTS

Tom Harmon of Michigan, John Kimbrough of Texas Aggies, Capt. Milt Piepul of Notre Dame, Frank Reagan of Penn, Jack Crain of Texas, Bill deCorrevont of Northwestern—these household names among the gridiron backs will be overshadowed by that of Newcomer Steve Juzwik of Notre Dame if the chunky Irish right halfback can continue his present pace.

Capt. Milt (Moose) Piepul, Notre Dame's ace fullback, had a cold and a sore back when he faced Georgia Tech so he was relieved of his duties of kicking off and kicking extra points, except to make one conversion from placement. He carried the ball only four times, making 19 yards, as compared with 98 yards and a touchdown in 10 trips against Pacific.

Notre Dame's public relations department is disturbed by Capt. Milt (Moose) Piepul's nickname. The student section, 3,000 male voices strong, starts demanding the appearance of "Moose, Moose, Moose" when the Irish need yards badly. And their yell comes over the air sounding for all the world like a chorus of booing!

Phil Dutchin, Kentucky halfback, is the son of Carlisle Dutchin, coach at Murray Teachers.

SPORTS WORLD RAMBLINGS

Sports potpourri:—"Buck" Newsome, one of the heroes of the World Series cashed in with another witty crack when asked to indorce a new perfume. The somewhat eccentric Detroit pitcher turned down the offer. The reason: The fee involved was not worth the heckling he'd receive from the dugouts next season.....

Walter Marlett, 29, father of three sons, is being groomed for the left tackle post at U. C. L. A. Del Lyman, the Bruin's regular tackle, underwent an emergency appendectomy operation and will be out for the rest of the season. Mickey Anderson, Southern California quarterback, is back in action following a bench term due to an injured knee....

Bernie Bierman, generalissimo of the Minnesota Gophers, evidently isn't worried about Saturday's clash with Ohio State. With his eleven enjoying a rest last Saturday, Bierman didn't even bother scouting the Ohio State-Northwestern tiff. The consensus of opinion is that the present Fordham team is the best eleven in Jim Crowley's era.....

Paul Christman, the pegging fool from Missouri, continues to thread the needle with his accurate passes. To date, the Mizzou passer has compiled 26 out of 61 aerials....Tulane is being hard hit in many ways. Recently, while turning a cartwheel, one of the cheerleaders broke an arm and will be out for the season!....

If Nick Drahos, of Cornell, isn't the best tackle in the collegiate ranks, name someone who can top him?....Ohio State was impotent against Northwestern. The Buckeyes gained but six yards by rushing against the Wildcats....Mike Byelene, one of Purdue's keymen, in fact 'the big man,' will be out for three weeks. The ex-Massillon gridder fractured one of his ribs last week-end.....

This Bennie Bierman is so fastidious about his elevens that he lets his gridders charge a mechanically controlled canvas dummy that registers the push of the lineman's charge....Answer to question: The team you have in mind was Colgate's 1932 eleven which marched through undefeated, untied and unscored upon.....

Mercer County drum-beaters are trying to work up a post season clash involving Massillon and Farrell. Don't ask us why....If it would come down to a fight, Catholic University's line probably would cop the title in the collegiate ranks. Every lineman on the Catholic eleven is a member of the boxing team!....Villanova, which ranks highly in grid circles, wasn't so hot back in '23. That season, the Wildcats played eight games, losing them all. To top it off, Villanova failed to score a single point.....

Walter "Steamboat" Reid, University of Kentucky tackle, had his nickname long before he came to college. A Paducah, Ky., boy, Reid has spent every summer since his grade school days working on a steamboat that plied the Ohio and Mississippi rivers.

Tempting Grid Dish Saturday Afternoon

By LAWTON CARVER
International News Service Sports Editor

NEW YORK, Oct. 17.—Eastern football teams today looked ahead to the coming week-end with understandable misgivings, for our prestige around here may get one of its rudest jolts of the season in a banner lineup of intersectional gridiron skirmishing.

With Pittsburgh meeting Fordham, two of the east's best elevens thus were lined up against each other while Cornell will be engaged in strictly eastern warfare with Syracuse and the same applies to Pennsylvania, which takes on Princeton. Hence, four of the east's very best—Pitt, Fordham, Cornell and Penn—won't be involved in the intersectional strife, but many of the rest will, and the outlook for them isn't particularly reassuring.

Here are the headline struggles involving the east against outsiders.

Georgia vs. Columbia.
Duke vs. Colgate.
Duquesne vs. Mississippi.
Notre Dame vs. Carnegie Tech.
Idaho vs. Boston College.
Drake vs. Navy.
Villanova vs. Baylor.
Detroit vs. Manhattan.
Michigan State vs. Temple.

Of the foregoing there are just two games that may be regarded as cinches, if there is such a thing in football—Notre Dame over Carnegie Tech and Boston College over Idaho.

Notre Dame Favored

Assuming that Notre Dame, with one of the great teams in its history, must beat de-emphasized Carnegie Tech, and that Boston College, seemingly a national threat, can't miss against Idaho, which

Harrisburg New Farm For Pirates

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 17.—Another minor league ally was added today to the roster of the Pittsburgh Pirates.

President Bill Benswanger, of the Bucaneers, and President John B. Warden, Manager Lester Bell and two other officials of the Harrisburg club of the interstate league, a Class B circuit, reached an agreement at the ball club's headquarters here and signed formal papers, the local office said.

The interstate league is one of the youngest and one of the most flourishing minor loops in the country, according to the Pirates. Starting out in 1939 as a Class C organization, with only a four-club circuit, made up of Allentown, Sunbury, Hazleton and Trenton, it expanded to eight cities and advanced to a Class B ranking last year through the addition of Harrisburg, York, Wilmington and Reading. Later the Hazleton franchise was transferred to Lancaster.

FROM ME TO YOU

By MESEEALL

Most every man elegible for conscription signed up yesterday without any fuss . . . however there were a few who wanted to be different . . . they said they didn't believe in war or the preparation of war . . . who does . . . but why lie back and let some mad man come from afar and take our freedom of speech and religious freedom from us . . . We have here in the United States opportunities for every good American citizen. If the proper encouragement is given business from the national government we feel sure that things will pick up . . . some say that small business can't be started today and made to progress . . . that is a foolish statement. It has been proven by boys between the ages of eighteen and twenty-one that new ideas can be put on the market and made to sell, thus giving employment. If boys can do this . . . then why can't men with more business experience do the same? It can be done and will be done if a staple set of laws is fixed so that business will know what will happen from one day to the next . . . but we are getting away from our original topic . . . let's keep our heads and use our thinking powers to the best of our ability.

Happiness goes out from the heart before it comes in.
It never by any chance stays at home.
You can harvest it for the common good but you cannot store it for your individual use.
You can lend it but you cannot borrow it.
You can earn it but you cannot buy it.
You can spend it but you cannot accumulate it.
A man must contribute to the stock of human joys before he can participate in its profits.
To seek happiness without giving it is a futile quest.
Happiness never really was any good in the world but to GIVE AWAY.

Let's all remember the other fellows and respect their property rights . . . our good country was built on that solid ground . . . let's keep the foundations intact.

Hay Ride Enjoyed By Blue Jay Scouts

ELLWOOD CITY, Oct. 17—Yes, sir, The Farmer is the man! If you don't think so, just ask one of the girls of the Blue Jay Scout troop.

The Girl Scouts met in front of the Baptist church where cars were furnished to take the girls to the Moyer Dairy farm, on the Ellwood-Zelienople road. Misses Edith Worcester and Marian Davis were in charge.

When all the girls arrived, they were shown the pasteurization of milk, the cooling and bottling processes. Then the girls were taken to the pasture to see the cows that provide the milk.

The evening's thrill followed when Mr. Moyer harnessed the two horses "Bob and Scott" to a huge wagon full of hay. All the girls jumped on the wagon and were off for a merry ride. While riding, some of the girls hopped off and played leap frog. After the ride, they went home and told everybody what a wonderful time they had. Emma Mozes, scribe.

TEMPTING GRID DISH SAT. AFTERNOON

hasn't won a game or even scored a touchdown in three starts, then the east will get an even break in those two.

But what about the rest?

Columbia is promising while Georgia is loaded and will be bouncing back from the Mississippi defeat. Colgate may get going, but faces an extremely tough foe in Duke, whipped up by the Tennessee setback; Duquesne takes on a potential southern leader in Mississippi; Villanova with high hopes, goes down into the southwest to face a dangerous Baylor eleven; Navy seems to be under way and probably will win, but conceivably could be upset by a Drake team, wich will be gunning for this one; Manhattan faces a team with considerable punch in Detroit; Temple, twice beaten, opposes a Michigan State eleven, which held Michigan to a one touchdown win and beat Purdue.

Of them all, we think the outstanding contests will be the ones between Columbia and Georgia, Duquesne and Mississippi, and Michigan State and Temple, for these look like pretty tough, close contests viewed this far in advance, with the outcome a virtual toss-up. The breaks will be extremely important in those three, and could be in the rest, too.

Pardon Board Hears Plea For New Castle Youth

(International News Service)

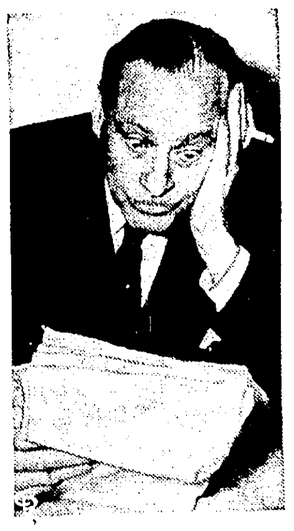

HARRISBURG, Oct. 17.—The State Board of Pardons today heard a lengthy plea for commutation of a life sentence being served by Charles A. Llewellyn, 31; New Castle, for his part in the murder of Clark Rae, elderly recluse of Neshannock township, in January, 1930.

Llewellyn, who was 21 at the time of the crime, and three companions, William Grimm, Jack McDevitt and Jesse Martin, sought to rob Rae and his brother after two previous attempts had failed. They attempted to frighten the brothers by firing bullets through a window.

Edward K. Logan, New Castle attorney, said that "public opinion in Lawrence county is strong for commutation of the sentence."

He added that persons connected with the case had written to the board recommending clemency.

Market Trend Upward For Third Day—Gains Are Limited

By LESLIE GOULD
(International News Service Financial Writer)

NEW YORK, Oct. 17.—The stock market made it three straight on the upside today. Stocks were forced to absorb considerable profit through the morning after an irregularly higher opening. When this had run its course, however, leaders quickly resumed their upswing on a fairly broad front.

While gains in most cases were limited to fractions, several issues were up a point or more. Trading, which had slowed on the mid-morning realizing, picked up on the rally.

Steels were prominent on the upswing. Bethlehem ran up more than a point along with Youngstown Sheet & Tube, while U. S. Steel did nearly as well. Crucible issues, which staged a spectacular rise in recent sessions, ran into profit-taking.

Chrysler and General Motors both converted fractional losses into similar gains. Rail shares firmed on the car loadings report. Coppers, steadied after early hesitancy, with American Smelting a strong spot.

There were some laggards, including U. S. Gypsum and International Harvester.

LOYAL TO THE SET

A loyal navy wife at Redding, Calif., thought it would be fine to have red and green running lights on her automobile so had one headlight red and the other green. A highway patrolman warned her such lights might be fine on the high seas but that they are distinctly taboo on California highways.

AROUND CITY HALL

Contrary to reports, three local policemen will take a course in the apprehension of criminals now under way at the State Teachers college, Slippery Rock. They are members named recently whom did not receive training at the Hershey school of the State Motor Police. The men are Thomas Boyle, Joseph Logan and George Rigby.

Patrolman Russo's arrest of a man whom he suspected of operating a motor vehicle while intoxicated, outside the city limits, was the first time in some years that such an act has occurred. Notified in the Seventh ward of the alleged operation, Patrolman Russo took up the hunt and did not allow the city line to deter him from apprehension.

Although the health bureau report is issued monthly it actually does not show the work that is done. For instance it does not show the number of inspections made by the sanitary policeman nor the alleged nuisances which he investigates. The sanitary policeman inspects public eating and drinking places, also.

During council meeting, held in the city building today, City Treasurer C. C. McKibben recommended to council that he be permitted to make quarterly collections of taxes in 1941. He asserted that this plan would be easier for taxpayers who desire to pay and that the quarterly method, if met, would prevent the imposition of penalties. The request was referred to Director of Finance James L. Fink.

Richard Rentz and others of the youth development movement here asked council for the use of the Croton fire department building if the building is abandoned as a fire-station. If given over to the jurisdiction of the youth development movement, it will be used as a community center for boys and girls. The building also would contain a library, Rentz told council, who answered that, as yet no official action toward the abandonment has been taken.

When council convened in city hall today bids were read for new fire apparatus. At present the Third ward fire apparatus is out of use, because it is obsolete, according to fire bureau officials. The bids were referred to Councilmen D. O. Davies, J. D. Alexander and Motor Mechanic Chris Walker. They will check the bids then make a report and recommendation as to an award to council. Some firms bid on a chassis and equipment and others bid on units. Those submitting bids were: W. S. Darling and company, Chicago; Francis Motor Sales company, city; J. R. Rick Motor Car company, city, and Herbert D. Porter Fire Supplies company of McKees Rocks, representing the American Fire Apparatus company.

Following passage of the zoning ordinance no building line was established in Hazelcroft avenue between North Mercer and Carlisle streets according to Solocitor R. M. White's information to council, which met in city hall today, therefore council cannot do anything relative to a protest petition presented several days ago by Attorneys Norman A. Martin and J. Glenn Berry who alleged that J. F. Perelman was erecting a dwelling which does not conform with the building line, solons declared.

Council today concurred in the recommendations of the fire chief and police chief that the Quaker State Oil Refining company be permitted to install three tanks and two electric pumps for a new station at 735 Croton avenue. . . . Council today viewed Croton avenue, the Downward company having offered to lay bituminous concrete at the intersection of streets and alleys along Croton avenue, now being resurfaced by the company. The bid was $490.

Fumigation with a deadly gas at 416 Epworth street did not prevent someone from removing barricades there yesterday, police were told today. Police warned all persons to stay away from the premises.

Reports on Italians

Gaetano Salvemini

Five per cent of the Italians in America are fascists and thirty-five per cent of them have fascist leanings, says Professor Gaetano Salvemini in a Washington report on fascist activities in the U.S., issued by the American Council on Public Affairs. Salvemini was exiled from Italy in 1927 because of his anti-fascist activities.

FROM ME TO YOU

By MESEEALL

Most every man elegible for conscription signed up yesterday without any fuss . . . however there were a few who wanted to be different . . . they said they didn't believe in war or the preparation of war . . . who does . . . but why lie back and let some mad man come from afar and take our freedom of speech and religious freedom from us . . . We have here in the United States opportunities for every good American citizen. If the proper encouragement is given business from the national government we feel sure that things will pick up . . . some say that small business can't be started today and made to progress . . . that is a foolish statement. It has been proven by boys between the ages of eighteen and twenty-one that new ideas can be put on the market and made to sell, thus giving employment. If boys can do this . . . then why can't men with more business experience do the same? It can be done and will be done if a staple set of laws is fixed so that business will know what will happen from one day to the next . . . but we are getting away from our original topic . . . let's keep our heads and use our thinking powers to the best of our ability.

Happiness goes out from the heart before it comes in.
It never by any chance stays at home.
You can harvest it for the common good but you cannot store it for your individual use.
You can lend it but you cannot borrow it.
You can earn it but you cannot buy it.
You can spend it but you cannot accumulate it.
A man must contribute to the stock of human joys before he can participate in its profits.
To seek happiness without giving it is a futile quest.
Happiness never really was any good in the world but to GIVE AWAY.

Let's all remember the other fellows and respect their property rights . . . our good country was built on that solid ground . . . let's keep the foundations intact.

THE GUMPS—BIM'S BEGINNING TO WISE UP

All Registrants Will Now Be Given Number

By GRIFFING BANCROFT, JR.
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Oct. 17.—Watch for your number!

After your registration, assignment of numbers is the next step in the complicated draft procedure.

Here, according to final plans announced by selective service officials today, is exactly what is going to happen to your registration card—and later to you.

Your card goes from the place where you register to your local draft board. There it is shuffled with all the other cards in that area and serial numbers are assigned by chance. Your local board should post all the names and numbers in a day or two, and you can learn yours by going and looking.

Then comes the lottery, expected in about 10 days. The order in which your serial number is drawn will determine your "order number." If it is among the first to be drawn you will receive an eight-page questionnaire almost immediately. If it is well down on the list, you will not receive the questionnaire for some time.

You receive the questionnaire by mail, fill it out, and return it to the local board, which will then classify you. If, because of dependents, your occupation, or for other reasons, you go into a deferred class, that will be your last contact with the draft—unless your classification is later changed.

If you go into Class 1—the "available" category—you will be called by the board for a physical examination by a draft doctor. He may find that you are physically unfit, in which case you are deferred for all time, that you suffer a minor physical defect, in which case you might be called later for "limited service," or that you are physically, morally and mentally sound.

If you are in the last group, and the quota for your district has not been filled, you will be sent to an "induction center" near your home.

There you get a second physical examination, this time by army doctors, and if you pass that one you are officially in the army, and in army hands for the next year of your life.

Assuming you are accepted, the army immediately will take you to a "reception center." There you will get your uniform, be given typhoid and small pox "shots," and learn the elementary principles of military drill and discipline.

You will be in the reception center only a few days, after which the army will either send you off to join some existing army or National Guard unit, or take you to a "replacement center" where your training will continue until such time as one of the established units calls for additional men.

Dr. Chas Freeman Professor Emeritus

DR. CHAS. FREEMAN

NEW WILMINGTON, Oct. 17.—After 46 years of teaching chemistry at Westminster college, Dr. Charles Freeman has been made "professor emeritus" by the Westminster board of trustees.

Five years before the Spanish-American war, in 1893, Dr. Charles Freeman came to Westminster, first to teach mathematics and later to head the Chemistry department. He watched the emphasis in the chemistry field change from agriculture chemistry to the industrial field, and into an emphasis on metalurgy.

Kappa Phi Lambda fraternity, second oldest local group in the United States, of which Dr. Freeman is a member, honored the retiring chemist this week with a smoker; and the Westminster faculty held an honorary tea to commemorate his seventy-sixth birthday, October 16.

Start Work On Scotland Lane

Plan To Place Black Top Surface On Another Union Township Street

Work was started on Scotland Lane, Wednesday, to prepare the street for a new black-top surface between West Washington street extension and the Youngstown road. This is another street to be rebuilt under the extensive street project of the Union Township supervisors.

Traffic was banned from Scotland Lane Wednesday, and the thoroughfare will be closed until the job is completed, in what is estimated to be about one month's time.

This re-surfacing job will be of great benefit to the Union Township High school building.

The benediction "God bless you," spoken by many people to a person who sneezes, is believed to have originated back in medieval days when a person who sneezed was thought to be under the influence of evil spirits, and this benediction was pronounced to counteract that evil influence.

Market Trend Upward For Third Day—Gains Are Limited

(International News Service Financial Writer)

NEW YORK, Oct. 17.—The stock market made it three straight on the upside today. Stocks were forced to absorb considerable profit through the morning after an irregularly higher opening. When this had run its course, however, leaders quickly resumed their upswing on a fairly broad front.

While gains in most cases were limited to fractions, several issues were up a point or more. Trading, which had slowed on the mid-morning realizing, picked up on the rally.

Steels were prominent on the upswing. Bethlehem ran up more than a point along with Youngstown Sheet & Tube, while U. S. Steel did nearly as well. Crucible issues, which staged a spectacular rise in recent sessions, ran into profit-taking.

Chrysler and General Motors both converted fractional losses into similar gains. Rail shares firmed on the car loadings report. Coppers, steadied after early hesitancy, with American Smelting a strong spot.

There were some laggards, including U. S. Gypsum and International Harvester.

AROUND CITY HALL

Contrary to reports, three local policemen will take a course in the apprehension of criminals now under way at the State Teachers college, Slippery Rock. They are members named recently whom did not receive training at the Hershey school of the State Motor Police. The men are Thomas Boyle, Joseph Logan and George Rigby.

Patrolman Russo's arrest of a man whom he suspected of operating a motor vehicle while intoxicated, outside the city limits, was the first time in some years that such an act has occurred. Notified in the Seventh ward of the alleged operation, Patrolman Russo took up the hunt and did not allow the city line to deter him from apprehension.

Although the health bureau report is issued monthly it actually does not show the work that is done. For instance it does not show the number of inspections made by the sanitary policeman nor the alleged nuisances which he investigates. The sanitary policeman inspects public eating and drinking places, also.

During council meeting, held in the city building today, City Treasurer C. C. McKibben recommended to council that he be permitted to make quarterly collections of taxes in 1941. He asserted that this plan would be easier for taxpayers who desire to pay and that the quarterly method, if met, would prevent the imposition of penalties. The request was referred to Director of Finance James L. Fink.

Richard Rentz and others of the youth development movement here asked council for the use of the Croton fire department building if the building is abandoned as a firestation. If given over to the jurisdiction of the youth development movement, it will be used as a community center for boys and girls. The building also would contain a library, Rentz told council, who answered that, as yet no official action toward the abandonment has been taken.

When council convened in city hall today bids were read for new fire apparatus. At present the Third ward fire apparatus is out of use, because it is obsolete, according to fire bureau officials. The bids were referred to Councilmen D. O. Davies, J. D. Alexander and Motor Mechanic Chris Walker. They will check the bids then make a report and recommendation as to an award to council. Some firms bid on a chassis and equipment and others bid on units. Those submitting bids were: W. S. Darling and company, Chicago; Francis Motor Sales company, city; J. R. Rick Motor Car company, city, and Herbert D. Porter Fire Supplies company of McKees Rocks, representing the American Fire Apparatus company.

Following passage of the zoning ordinance no building line was established in Hazelcroft avenue between North Mercer and Carlisle streets according to Solicitor R. M. White's information to council, which met in city hall today, therefore council cannot do anything relative to a protest petition presented several days ago by Attorneys Norman A. Martin and J. Glenn Berry who alleged that J. F. Perelman was erecting a dwelling which does not conform with the building line, solons declared.

Council today concurred in the recommendations of the fire chief and police chief that the Quaker State Oil Refining company be permitted to install three tanks and two electric pumps for a new station at 735 Croton avenue. . . . Council today viewed Croton avenue, the Downward company having offered to lay bituminous concrete at the intersection of streets and alleys along Croton avenue, now being resurfaced by the company. The bid was $490.

All Registrants Will Now Be Given Number

By GRIFFING BANCROFT, JR.
International News Service Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Oct. 17.—Watch for your number!

After your registration, assignment of numbers is the next step in the complicated draft procedure.

Here, according to final plans announced by selective service officials today, is exactly what is going to happen to your registration card—and later to you.

Your card goes from the place where you register to your local draft board. There it is shuffled with all the other cards in that area and serial numbers are assigned by chance. Your local board should post all the names and numbers in a day or two, and you can learn yours by going and looking.

Then comes the lottery, expected in about 10 days. The order in which your serial number is drawn will determine your "order number." If it is among the first to be drawn you will receive an eight-page questionnaire almost immediately. If it is well down on the list, you will not receive the questionnaire for some time.

You receive the questionnaire by mail, fill it out, and return it to the local board, which will then classify you. If, because of dependents, your occupation, or for other reasons, you go into a deferred class, that will be your last contact with the draft—unless your classification is later changed.

If you go into Class I—the "available" category—you will be called by the board for a physical examination by a draft doctor. He may find that you are physically unfit, in which case you are deferred for all time, that you suffer a minor physical defect, in which case you might be called later for "limited service," or that you are physically, morally and mentally sound.

If you are in the last group, and the quota for your district has not been filled, you will be sent to an "induction center" near your home.

There you get a second physical examination, this time by army doctors, and if you pass that one you are officially in the army, and in army hands for the next year of your life.

Assuming you are accepted, the army immediately will take you to a "reception center." There you will get your uniform, be given typhoid and small pox "shots," and learn the elementary principles of military drill and discipline.

You will be in the reception center only a few days, after which the army will either send you off to join some existing army or National Guard unit, or take you to a "replacement center" where your training will continue until such time as one of the established units calls for additional men.

NAMED IN CHOIR

NEW WILMINGTON, Oct. 17.—James McLaughry, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. McLaughry, of Beechwood road, has been selected as one of 60 students for the Hamilton college choir. McLaughry is a freshman in that institution.

The college of William and Mary, at Williamsburg, Va., is the second oldest college in the United States, Harvard being older by a few years.

Dr. Chas Freeman Professor Emeritus

DR. CHAS. FREEMAN

NEW WILMINGTON, Oct. 17.—After 46 years of teaching chemistry at Westminster college, Dr. Charles Freeman has been made "professor emeritus" by the Westminster board of trustees.

Five years before the Spanish-American war, in 1893, Dr. Charles Freeman came to Westminster, first to teach mathematics and later to head the Chemistry department. He watched the emphasis in the chemistry field change from agriculture chemistry to the industrial field, and into an emphasis on metalurgy.

Kappa Phi Lambda fraternity, second oldest local group in the United States, of which Dr. Freeman is a member, honored the retiring chemist this week with a smoker; and the Westminster faculty held an honorary tea to commemorate his seventy-sixth birthday, October 16.

Start Work On Scotland Lane

Plan To Place Black Top Surface On Another Union Township Street

Work was started on Scotland Lane, Wednesday, to prepare the street for a new black-top surface between West Washington street extension and the Youngstown road. This is another street to be rebuilt under the extensive street project of the Union Township supervisors.

Traffic was banned from Scotland Lane Wednesday, and the thoroughfare will be closed until the job is completed, in what is estimated to be about one month's time.

This re-surfacing job will be of great benefit to the Union Township High school building.

Dickinson college, Carlisle, Pa., makes its political science courses practical by arranging student conferences conducted by state government officials.
